Garsson Agent Wins Acquittal In Fraud Trial

Fate Of May And Two Others Left To Jury

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—One of four defendants in the May-Garsson war fraud trial won acquittal today but the fate of former Kenutucky Congressman Andrew J. May and Munitions-Makers Henry and Murray Garsson was left to a jury.

Justice Henry A. Schweinhaut granted a motion freeing Joseph F. Freeman, Washington agent for the $78,000,000 Garsson arms-making combine, but denied similar moves for acquittal judgments for the 72-year old May and the two Garsson brothers.

Government Closes Case

The motions were made after the government concluded its case against all four on charges that May received more than $55,000 in bribes for favors to the Garsson enterprises while he was wartime chairman of the House Military Committee.

Ruling that no case had been made against Freeman, Judge Schweinhaut said:

"I feel convinced that if the jury convicted Mr. Freeman I would set aside the verdict."

Freeman's attorney, Gordon Canfield, had argued that the government had failed to show that the Garsson agent was aware of any bribes to May.

William A. Paisley, special assistant attorney general serving as chief prosecutor, countered that the evidence showed Freeman had solicited two $1,000 payments to May's 1944 campaign fund in Kentucky and had taken money from Murray Garsson to pay off $5,000 in notes May owed a New York bank.

May Expected To Take Stand

After Freeman's acquittal the trial was adjourned until Friday when the Garssons and May will begin presenting their defense. May and Henry Garsson are expected to take the witness stand, probably next week.

Before Paisley closed his side of the case, the prosecution produced new testimony that May protested Army contract terminations for Garsson firms and made inquiries about furloughs and draft deferments for Garsson relatives and friends.

Wallace Charges Politics Playing

CHICAGO, May 14—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace declared tonight that "the administration is playing politics with the misery of Europe" and advocated a $150,000,000,000 program of American exports and investments throughout the world.

The only hope for peace "is a major effort to restore the world economy by the use of American resources," the former vice president and Cabinet member said in a speech prepared for a meeting sponsored by the Illinois Chapter of Progressive Citizens of America.

"The Truman doctrine may not lead to war, but it will never lead to peace," Wallace declared.

"In all Europe I found only one group—the group of extreme right wingers led by Winston Churchill, who were ready to defend the Truman doctrine," Wallace said.

He defined the "Truman doctrine" as a "doctrine of unlimited aid to anti-Soviet governments," and added, "I predict that one day we shall bitterly regret the action that Congress has taken."

Taxi Dispatcher Named As Man Who Shot Negro

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 14 (AP)—R. Carlos Hurd, Sr., a 45-year-old taxicab dispatcher, was named in statements today by four of the 31 defendants as the man who fired shotgun volleys through the head of a gashed and beaten negro, 24-year-old Willie Earle.

Hurd, one of those on trial, previously had been named as the trigger man in the state's indictments.

A statement attributed to George M. Covington, a taxi driver, and read to the jury, said that Hurd shouted "let's get it over with," shot the negro, reloaded and shot him again.

Foreign Relief Bill Clears Senate, 79-4

Votes To Grant Full $350,000,000 Asked

WASHINGTON, May 14—(AP)—The Senate voted resoundingly today, 79 to 4, to grant the full $350,000,000 asked to relieve suffering abroad.

It rejected a House plan to hold the sum to $200,000,000 and likewise left out House-voted restrictions on aid to Communist-dominated countries.

The Senate bill does carry, however, a requirement that the food and medicine be clearly shown to have come from the U.S.A.

The legislation now goes to a Senate-House conference committee for adjustment of the differences. Besides the money difference there is the House requirement that no aid go to any Communist-dominated countries unless they agree to rigid United States supervision of the distribution of the relief.

Recipients Not Named In Bill

Countries to be aided are not named in the Senate bill but Secretary of State Marshall has said that the main bulk of relief will go to Austria, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Poland, China and Trieste.

In undertaking the lone-handed relief the United States will be taking up where the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration is leaving off. Under UNRRA, there were many complaints that relief was used for political purposes and that the heavy contributions of the United States were sometimes credited elsewhere.

Just before the vote on final passage, the Senate turned down by a 64 to 19 roll call vote Sen. Kem's (R-Mo) amendment which would have cut the amount to $200,000,000.

Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, told his colleagues the smaller amount would not be sufficient to meet the urgent needs even in Greece, Italy and Austria.

Turned down on a voice vote was a proposal by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) which would have denied any of the aid to Russia or any country "under the economic or political domination" of the Soviet.

"No" Voters Listed

On final passage, only McClellan and one other Democrat, Sen. O'Daniel of Texas, and two Republicans, Bushfield of South Dakota and Williams, of Delaware, voted against the bill.

The measure is one of two key bills in the administration foreign program. Both have now been approved by both houses of Congress in some form.

The second is the bill to grant $400,000,000 of economic and military aid to Greece and Turkey. A conference committee reached agreement yesterday on a compromise version, and the House will probably act upon it tomorrow, then the Senate.

ROBERT TAYLOR . . . . Film star was forced to act in movie he considered Russian propaganda.

Taylor "Forced" To Act In Movie, "Song Of Russia"

Considered Picture Russian Propaganda

LOS ANGELES, May 14 (AP)—A statement that Robert Taylor was forced to act in the movie "Song Of Russia," which he considered Russian propaganda, was made today by Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ), of a House Committe on Un-American Affairs.

Thomas told newsmen that Taylor had informed him and other committee members at a closed hearing that a War Production Board official "whose name we still must check," delayed Taylor's entrance into the Navy Air Corps until he had completed the role.

However Taylor told reporters tonight that he reported the Washington official involved in his case was from the Office of War Information, not the WPB.

Arlen Cites Red Influence

Thomas said he considered the Taylor affair as "another instance that persons in our government have been aiding and abetting Communism, even to the extent of getting our most prominent actors to play leading roles in pictures to which they objected."

Richard Arlen, a veteran of 27 years in the movies, told reporters:

"Hollywood Communists have influence far exceeding their numbers because they are efficient and secret organizations and composd, for the most part, of frustrated people."

Taylor emerged from a private hearing with the committee to tell reporters he welcomed "the opportunity to do anything I can to fight Communism."

Wife Holds Same Views

Taylor said that while the nature of his conference with the committee was confidential he wanted to make it clear that "I was not invited as a suspected Communist, because I'm against it, strictly, and that's why, I guess, I was called."

"How about your wife, Barbara Stanwyck?" a reporter asked.

"She'd come a runnin' if they asked her. She feels the same way I do."

Coal Company Indicted As Result Of Explosion

NASHVILLE, Ill., May 14 (AP)—A Washington County grand jury today returned two indictments charging the Centralia Coal Company with "willful neglect" in connection with the explosion in the company's mine No. 5 at Centralia March 25 in which 111 men died.

The indictments charged the firm with failure to provide sufficient air for miners working underground and failure to adequately rockdust the mine—a safety measure to reduce the spread of dust explosions.

The alleged violations of the Illinois state mining law are misdemeanors and carry a maximum punishment of $500 each.

Both Sides Rest In Romney Trial

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP)—The government wound up its three-day prosecution of Kenneth Romney, former House sergeant-at-arms, today after an FBI agent testified that Romney admitted having lost $50,000 in Florida real estate ventures with former Rep. John H. Smithwick, of Florida.

In a surprise move, the defense also rested without presenting a single witness. Romney is accused of fraud in concealing a shortage of $143,863 in his office, which functioned as a bank for members of the House.

Federal Court Justice Alexander Holtzoff overruled a defense motion for acquittal and directed the jury to begin its deliberations tomorrow morning.

Edward J. Armbruster, FBI special agent, testified Romney told him that approximately $30,000 of the $50,000 lost in Florida realty games was "official money" and $20,000 was his own.

Armbruster said Romney also told him that $25,000 of the $143,863 missing from the bank went to finance Smithwick's 1928 campaign for re-election to Congress. An audit said that $64,573 in Smithwick checks formed part of the shortage.

Body Of Woman Found In Trunk Is Identified

FREEHOLD, N. J., May 14 (AP)—J. Victor Carton, Monmouth County district attorney, said today that the garrotted body of a woman found nearly a month ago in a trunk at Keyport has been identified by Clyde Reddick, of Woodstown as that of Mattie Workman, a former acquaintance from Tennessee.

Relatives of Miss Workman are en route to New Jersey to view the body, Carton said, adding that Lawrence County, Tenn., authorities had advised him the relatives had not heard from her since she left Tennessee for New Jersey about three months ago.

The body of the woman was found in a trunk along the highway near Keyport April 19. She had been strangled with a dog leash. Police have sought for more than three weeks to identify the victim.

Dual Palestine State Is Urged By Soviet Union

Partition Is Called Only Other Solution

NEW YORK, May 14—(AP)—Soviet Russia called on the United Nations today for creation of an independent Jewish-Arab government in Palestine.

The Arabs immediately retorted that such a dual state would be impossible unless barriers were kept up against Jewish immigration into the Holy Land. The Jewish Agency for Palestine said it had no comment.

Linking his suggestion with a vigorous attack on Britain's administration of the Palestine mandate, Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told the General Assembly that the only other acceptable solution would be partition of Palestine into separate Jewish and Arab nations.

Arabs Oppose Partition

The Arabs have opposed partition. The Zionists have indicated acceptance of such a plan as a basis for discussion.

The long Soviet speech touched off extended debate and retarded the weary Assembly on its drive toward adjournment. Before quitting the 55 delegates must approve a Political Committee plan for setting up and instructing an 11-nation investigation commission to report on the entire Holy Land problem.

In the midst of the heated discussions, Norway brought forth a resolution calling on all parties to the Palestine problem to declare a truce for the duration of United Nations deliberations. The move asked for parties to refrain from "threat of force or any other action which might affect the problem."

The truce plea came here as explosions rocked areas in northern and southern portions of Palestine.

The Assembly adjourned at 6:53 p. m. (EDT) until 10 a. m. tomorrow after hearing Lebanon join the Arab country chorus against the resolution setting up the inquiry commission.

Adjournment Near

Assembly President Oswaldo Aranha, Brazil, predicted that the special session would adjourn finally some time tomorrow.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie, anticipating approval of the investigating commission, named Mr. Victor Hoo, of China, assistant secretary-general in charge of trusteeship affairs, to head a secretariat staff of 40 to 50 for the inquiry group.

The investigators yet to be named will be from Czechoslovakia, Canada, the Netherlands, Peru, Uruguay, Iran, Sweden, Yugoslavia, Guatemala, Australia and India.

The Arab countries' reply to Russia's dual-state plan was that such a move would not be acceptable unless restrictions continued on Jewish immigration in order to preserve the Arab populational majority now standing at 1,200,000 Arabs to 600,000 Jews. Faris Khoury, Syrian delegate, led off the Arab response on the Assembly floor.

Louisville Patrolmen Sue Actress, Husband

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 14 (AP)—Damage suits totaling $60,000 were filed in federal court here today against Actress Diana Barrymore and her tennis player husband, John R. Howard.

The suits were filed by Attorney Thomas H. Young for three Louisville patrolmen, each of whom is asking $20,000 from the couple as an aftermath to a fist swinging and name calling match between police and the Howards on a downtown street corner and in the police holdover early Sunday.

Patrolmen Joseph Shepherd, Walter Zettwoch and Joseph Martin charge in their suits that the Howards used vile and vulgar language, and hit them with such force as to do bodily harm without provocation.

Food For Germany

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — Secretary of War Patterson said today that more than 400,000 tons of food will be sent to Germany this month, a similar amount in June and "even more" in July.

BUS STRUCK BY TRAIN— A spectator (right) looks at the leg of a victim, protruding through the rear window of a bus, after the vehicle and a Baltimore and Ohio freight train crashed at Kenwood, near Bethesda, Md., yesterday. Three persons were killed and five others injured.

President Signs Portal Bill; Would Up Minimum Pay

Requests Extension Of Wage-Hour Law

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP) — President Truman today signed a bill to erase most portal-to-portal claims, past and future, and pleaded anew that the minimum wage be increased from 40 to 65 cents an hour.

In a message to Congress announcing he had approved the bill "in the interest of the economic stability of the nation," Mr. Truman also:

1. Asked that the wage-hour law be extended to "many persons not now protected" by it.

2. Announced that the portal act will require a bigger sum for enforcement of the wage-hour law. He will ask for it later.

3. Declared the new act should end pay uncertainties that will smooth out current wage negotiations and help business to plan full production and price reductions.

Effects To Be Watched

4. Asked Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach to keep an eye on the effects of the portal act. He announced he will ask Congress to take prompt action if it proves detrimental to fair labor standards.

The law sprang from a $6,000,000,000 deluge of suits in courts all over the country claiming portal back pay under the wage-hour law. This law sets a 40-cent minimum wage in interstate industry and requires payment of time and a half after 40 hours a week. An employer risks heavy damages if he violates the law. The portal suits were based on a Supreme Court decision that an employer may be liable for non-productive activities performed during time under his control. These include such things as walking to the work bench, sharpening tools, etc.

Clarification "Essential"

Mr. Truman wrote that judicial interpretation had "raised the possibility that employers might be required to pay back wages for certain activities which in most industries had not previously been considered by either workers or employers to be compensable."

"I believe that, in the interest of the economic stability of our nation, it is essential to clarify this matter by statute," he added.

The bill would outlaw most portal suits now on court dockets and would outlaw nearly all future suits. While the total of the suits at one time approximated $6,000,000,000 many were withdrawn after the key case—involving CIO pottery workers at Mount Clemens, Mich.—was dismissed at the union's request.

THREE PERSONS KILLED WHEN B. AND O. FREIGHT TRAIN BACKS INTO BUS

BETHESDA, Md., May 14 (AP)—Three persons were killed and five others injured when a Baltimore and Ohio freight train backed into a moving bus here late today.

Montgomery police said 13 persons were on the bus, which is owned by the Congressional Country Club and used to transport employes to and from the District of Columbia line, where bus service from Washington terminates.

Police identified the dead as Jeff Handy, a house man; and Shirley Gordon and Elsie Williams, maids.

Reports indicated, police said, that none of the passengers were killed by the impact, but were crushed to death while trying to escape from windows as the train shoved the overturned bus along the tracks.

W. Va. Phone Workers Get $2-$3 Boost

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 14 (AP)—Settlement of the 38-day-old West Virginia telephone strike on the basis of weekly wage increases of $2 and $3 was announced jointly tonight by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company and the Communication Workers Union.

Return of the striking workers was ordered to start tonight, but J. D. Shepherd, co-chairman of the union's negotiating committee, said "the union of its officers have no authority to order employes to cross picket lines."

Western Electric Company employes, stationed at Charleston, Huntington, Wheeling, Parkersburg and Clarksburg, still are on strike, and how many state employes would cross picket lines in those places remained problematical.

Shepherd said "our policy is to observe picket lines."

J. R. B. Crigler, vice president and general manager of the company, said the $3 weekly increase would apply to more than two-thirds of the union's approximately 3,200 members.

Shepherd and T. R. Null, president of the union, agreed to remove their union's picket lines immediately and to order employes back to work as soon as possible.

Phone Peace Not Yet Sighted

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The nation's telephone strike dwindled further today, but a complete end to it was not yet in sight.

Amid hopes for new wage offers from both sides soon, conciliators today put off until tomorrow negotiations between Western Electric and 20,000 striking workers of this big Bell Telephone System affiliate.

John Murray, Labor Department representative, said he recessed the talks until 9 a. m. (EST) to give both sides opportunity to discuss the dispute separately.

The negotiations involve the Association of Communications Equipment Workers, representing installation men.

Separate talks are being conducted with the Western Electric Employes Association, which has 22,000 members in 21 plants. The latter recessed until 9:30 a. m. (EST) tomorrow after a three-hour session.

New York Man Held In Slaying Of Child

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP) — A man identified by Police as Arnold Alexander (Lucky) Turner, 25, of New York City, was booked tonight on fugitive and homicide charges in the slaying last Saturday of five-year-old Carol Ann Thompson in Upper Gwynedd Township, Montgomery, Pa.

Maryland-Wide Check Ordered By Committee

Senate Group's Vote Follows Party Lines

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The Senate Rules Committee, splitting on strict party lines, voted 8 to 5 today to order a state-wide recount in the disputed Maryland election last November of Sen. O'Conor, a Democrat.

Chairman Brooks (R-Ill.), of the Senate Rules Committee, said that "no definite trend" had been established in the recently-completed recount of paper ballots in five counties named by D. John Markey, defeated Republican candidate, as those with the most claimed irregularities. He added:

"The committee felt that it would be impossible to have a satisfactory result without completely counting the remaining 17 counties in the state."

O'Conor Won By 2,232 Votes

O'Conor, twice Governor of Maryland, won the election by an official state margin of 2,232 votes, or less than one-half of one per cent of the total 472,000 votes cast.

Markey's petition for a Senate investigation claimed errors and irregularities and said a fair count would make him the winner by more than 10,000 votes.

Counsel for Markey said that the state-wide recount ordered by the Rules Committee would be the first in the history of Maryland and the fourth ever ordered in Senate history.

The Senate previously took similar action in the Michigan election in 1918, in Texas in 1922 and in Iowa in 1924.

Brooks said that the committee vote on the Maryland state-wide recount was divided strictly on party lines with eight Republicans voting for and five Democrats against.

He said "up to now there has been no discovery of any fraud. It is a matter of votes received by the contestants as to be determined finally by the recount."

Brooks said that $23,000 has been spent thus far in the investigation of the election and he "anticipates a further appropriation will be necessary."

Will Start "Immediately"

O'Conor's attorneys estimated previously that from $60,000 to $160,000 would be required for a recount of the 17 additional counties.

Brooks said that the state-wide recount would be started "immediately" and would take about 13 weeks. This would conclude the recount after this session of Congress ends in July under present plans.

Brooks also announced that Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) had been named to succeed Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Ia.) on the subcommittee. The latter resigned, saying that he was pressed with other work, chiefly as chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

Brooks said that Markey had picked up 426 votes in a recheck of voting machine totals in Baltimore City and Montgomery County that preceded the recount of 60,000 paper ballots in Anne Arundel, Prince Georges, Howard, St. Mary's and Cecil Counties.

George Cochran Doub, attorney for Markey, said that Markey also had gained 809 more votes in the paper recount. However, Sen. Myers said if Markey had shown any gain it was only because he had challenged more votes than had O'Conor.

Efforts To Save Cultural Program Receive Setback

House Technicality Blocks Fund Motion

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — A technicality in the House today knocked flat efforts to rescue the State Department's cultural relations program and left it facing death June 30. But another try is in the making.

A point of order by Rep. Stefan (R-Neb) blocked a motion by Rep. Gary (D-Va) to provide $31,381,220 to continue the work beyond midyear. Gary sought to restore the sum to the State Department appropriaion bill, from which a committee had deleted it.

But Stefan insisted that since the program has not been set up by separate law, the House cannot appropriate for it under its rules. Rep. Curtis (R-Neb), presiding at the time, upheld Stefan. The House made no attempt to override the ruling.

In the House Foreign Relations Committeé, a bill to authorize the program and meet this objection received the backing of Walter Bedell Smith, ambassador to Russia. The program is aimed to sell the American way of life abroad by radio broadcasts and other methods.

Smith declared the United States "cannot afford to remain silent." To the confused people of Central Europe, the United States must sell the idea of "a decent way of life for the average citizen," he said.

It appeared doubtful, however, that the authorization bill could catch up with the appropriation measure before the latter passes the House. In that event, it was indicated that supporters of the cultural program would attempt to have the Senate provide funds in hopes that the legal defect could be remedied in the meantime.

Issuance Of Sales Tax Licenses Starts Monday

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP)—Issuance of licenses required by merchants in connection with collection of the two per cent retail sales tax in Maryland after July 1 will be started next Monday, State Auditor Daniel L. Clayland announced today.

Clayland estimated 50,000 state vendors will be required to obtain the licenses.

Applications may be made either in person or by mail at the new headquarters of tax collection division in the Leeds Building, Baltimore.

ICC Approves Pooling Of Pullman Business

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission today approved a plan under which 59 railroads propose to pool the equipment and earnings of the Pullman Company's sleeping car business.

Pullman is giving up the business of operating the cars and the major railroads have bid $40,000,000 for it.

The ICC was asked to approve their plan for operating the cars in a general pool which will make the equipment available not only to the owning roads but to other railroads desiring it.

The Justice Department sought to block sale of the Pullman business to the railroads on the grounds it tended towards monopoly. The Supreme Court approved the sale.

Government, Lewis, Mine Owners Will Confer On Wage Question Today

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — The Federal Coal Mines Administration, John L. Lewis and the soft coal mine operators will go into a preliminary wage conference tomorrow amid new circumstances affecting southern operators' resistance to a nationwide contract.

These are:

1. Labor legislation has cleared the Senate minus the House restriction on nationwide bargaining.

2. The Coal Mines Administration has completed its survey of individual sentiment among southern producers regarding nationwide bargaining. Unofficial reports say that a number of large southern producers, in addition to some operators with properties both in the North and the South, now are willing to accept industry-wide bargaining.

The attitude of southern coal producers is the crux of current discussions preliminary to opening negotiations for a working contract between the Lewis' United Mine Workers and operators of the nation's soft coal mines.

In a statement after the break-up of last week's meeting, the Southern Coal Producers Association said it is unable for competitive reasons to bargain with the union on a nationwide basis, but is willing to negotiate on its own behalf.

Labor Officials At Stuttgart Vote General Strike Due To Food Crisis

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 14—(AP)—Stuttgart factory labor leaders, in the first major strike action in the American occupation zone, voted angrily today to call a general walkout May 22 unless the German food crisis is solved immediately.

The strike threat came a few hours after Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor, predicted at a news conference here that the "desperate" crisis would be alleviated in a few weeks, and warned that any "political agitator" who stirred up trouble would be jailed.

The Stuttgart shop chairmen also demanded a 40-hour work week, asserting that factory employes had been so weakened by reduced food rations that they could not work 48 hours.

A succession of German speakers sharply criticized American food policies.

One chairman asserted that interned Nazis were receiving 1,700 calories of food a day, while many free Germans were "getting only 600 to 700 calories."

Germans are supposed to get 1,550 calories, which is considered by nutritionists to be minimum need for an extended period.

The threatened strike pointed up a report here by American official investigators, who said the Germans were showing an "ugly mood of bitter resentment" toward the United States.

Garsson Agent Wins Acquittal In Fraud Trial

Fate Of May And Two Others Left To Jury

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—One of four defendants in the May-Garsson war fraud trial won acquittal today but the fate of former Kenutucky Congressman Andrew J. May and Munitions-Makers Henry and Murray Garsson was left to a jury.

Justice Henry A. Schweinhaut granted a motion freeing Joseph F. Freeman, Washington agent for the $78,000,000 Garsson arms-making combine, but denied similar moves for acquittal judgments for the 72-year old May and the two Garsson brothers.

Government Closes Case

The motions were made after the government concluded its case against all four on charges that May received more than $55,000 in bribes for favors to the Garsson enterprises while he was wartime chairman of the House Military Committee.

Ruling that no case had been made against Freeman, Judge Schweinhaut said:

"I feel convinced that if the jury convicted Mr. Freeman I would set aside the verdict."

Freeman's attorney, Gordon Canfield, had argued that the government had failed to show that the Garsson agent was aware of any bribes to May.

William A. Paisley, special assistant attorney general serving as chief prosecutor, countered that the evidence showed Freeman had solicited two $1,000 payments to May's 1944 campaign fund in Kentucky and had taken money from Murray Garsson to pay off $5,000 in notes May owed a New York bank.

May Expected To Take Stand

After Freeman's acquittal the trial was adjourned until Friday when the Garssons and May will begin presenting their defense. May and Henry Garsson are expected to take the witness stand, probably next week.

Before Paisley closed his side of the case, the prosecution produced new testimony that May protested Army contract terminations for Garsson firms and made inquiries about furloughs and draft deferments for Garsson relatives and friends.

Wallace Charges Politics Playing

CHICAGO, May 14—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace declared tonight that "the administration is playing politics with the misery of Europe" and advocated a $150,000,000,000 program of American exports and investments throughout the world.

The only hope for peace "is a major effort to restore the world economy by the use of American resources," the former vice president and Cabinet member said in a speech prepared for a meeting sponsored by the Illinois Chapter of Progressive Citizens of America.

"The Truman doctrine may not lead to war, but it will never lead to peace," Wallace declared.

"In all Europe I found only one group—the group of extreme right wingers led by Winston Churchill, who were ready to defend the Truman doctrine," Wallace said.

He defined the "Truman doctrine" as a "doctrine of unlimited aid to anti-Soviet governments," and added, "I predict that one day we shall bitterly regret the action that Congress has taken."

Taxi Dispatcher Named As Man Who Shot Negro

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 14 (AP)—R. Carlos Hurd, Sr., a 45-year-old taxicab dispatcher, was named in statements today by four of the 31 defendants as the man who fired shotgun volleys through the head of a gashed and beaten negro, 24-year-old Willie Earle.

Hurd, one of those on trial, previously had been named as the trigger man in the state's indictments.

A statement attributed to George M. Covington, a taxi driver, and read to the jury, said that Hurd shouted "let's get it over with," shot the negro, reloaded and shot him again.

Foreign Relief Bill Clears Senate, 79-4

ROBERT TAYLOR . . . . Film star was forced to act in movie he considered Russian propaganda.

Votes To Grant Full $350,000,000 Asked

WASHINGTON, May 14—(AP)—The Senate voted resoundingly today, 79 to 4, to grant the full $350,000,000 asked to relieve suffering abroad.

It rejected a House plan to hold the sum to $200,000,000 and likewise left out House-voted restrictions on aid to Communist-dominated countries.

The Senate bill does carry, however, a requirement that the food and medicine be clearly shown to have come from the U.S.A.

The legislation now goes to a Senate-House conference committee for adjustment of the differences. Besides the money difference there is the House requirement that no aid go to any Communist-dominated countries unless they agree to rigid United States supervision of the distribution of the relief.

Recipients Not Named In Bill

Countries to be aided are not named in the Senate bill but Secretary of State Marshall has said that the main bulk of relief will go to Austria, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Poland, China and Trieste.

In undertaking the lone-handed relief the United States will be taking up where the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration is leaving off. Under UNRRA, there were many complaints that relief was used for political purposes and that the heavy contributions of the United States were sometimes credited elsewhere.

Just before the vote on final passage, the Senate turned down by a 64 to 19 roll call vote Sen. Kem's (R-Mo) amendment which would have cut the amount to $200,000,000.

Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, told his colleagues the smaller amount would not be sufficient to meet the urgent needs even in Greece, Italy and Austria.

Turned down on a voice vote was a proposal by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) which would have denied any of the aid to Russia or any country "under the economic or political domination" of the Soviet.

"No" Voters Listed

On final passage, only McClellan and one other Democrat, Sen. O'Daniel of Texas, and two Republicans, Bushfield of South Dakota and Williams, of Delaware, voted against the bill.

The measure is one of two key bills in the administration foreign program. Both have now been approved by both houses of Congress in some form.

The second is the bill to grant $400,000,000 of economic and military aid to Greece and Turkey. A conference committee reached agreement yesterday on a compromise version, and the House will probably act upon it tomorrow, then the Senate.

Taylor "Forced" To Act In Movie, "Song Of Russia"

Considered Picture Russian Propaganda

LOS ANGELES, May 14 (AP)—A statement that Robert Taylor was forced to act in the movie "Song Of Russia," which he considered Russian propaganda, was made today by Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ), of a House Committe on Un-American Affairs.

Thomas told newsmen that Taylor had informed him and other committee members at a closed hearing that a War Production Board official "whose name we still must check," delayed Taylor's entrance into the Navy Air Corps until he had completed the role.

However Taylor told reporters tonight that he reported the Washington official involved in his case was from the Office of War Information, not the WPB.

Arlen Cites Red Influence

Thomas said he considered the Taylor affair as "another instance that persons in our government have been aiding and abetting Communism, even to the extent of getting our most prominent actors to play leading roles in pictures to which they objected."

Richard Arlen, a veteran of 27 years in the movies, told reporters:

"Hollywood Communists have influence far exceeding their numbers because they are efficient and secret organizations and composd, for the most part, of frustrated people."

Taylor emerged from a private hearing with the committee to tell reporters he welcomed "the opportunity to do anything I can to fight Communism."

Wife Holds Same Views

Taylor said that while the nature of his conference with the committee was confidential he wanted to make it clear that "I was not invited as a suspected Communist, because I'm against it, strictly, and that's why, I guess, I was called."

"How about your wife, Barbara Stanwyck?" a reporter asked.

"She'd come a runnin' if they asked her. She feels the same way I do."

Coal Company Indicted As Result Of Explosion

NASHVILLE, Ill., May 14 (AP)—A Washington County grand jury today returned two indictments charging the Centralia Coal Company with "willful neglect" in connection with the explosion in the company's mine No. 5 at Centralia March 25 in which 111 men died.

The indictments charged the firm with failure to provide sufficient air for miners working underground and failure to adequately rockdust the mine—a safety measure to reduce the spread of dust explosions.

The alleged violations of the Illinois state mining law are misdemeanors and carry a maximum punishment of $500 each.

Both Sides Rest In Romney Trial

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP)—The government wound up its three-day prosecution of Kenneth Romney, former House sergeant-at-arms, today after an FBI agent testified that Romney admitted having lost $50,000 in Florida real estate ventures with former Rep. John H. Smithwick, of Florida.

In a surprise move, the defense also rested without presenting a single witness. Romney is accused of fraud in concealing a shortage of $143,863 in his office, which functioned as a bank for members of the House.

Federal Court Justice Alexander Holtzoff overruled a defense motion for acquittal and directed the jury to begin its deliberations tomorrow morning.

Edward J. Armbruster, FBI special agent, testified Romney told him that approximately $30,000 of the $50,000 lost in Florida realty games was "official money" and $20,000 was his own.

Armbruster said Romney also told him that $25,000 of the $143,863 missing from the bank went to finance Smithwick's 1928 campaign for re-election to Congress. An audit said that $64,573 in Smithwick checks formed part of the shortage.

Body Of Woman Found In Trunk Is Identified

FREEHOLD, N. J., May 14 (AP)—J. Victor Carton, Monmouth County district attorney, said today that the garrotted body of a woman found nearly a month ago in a trunk at Keyport has been identified by Clyde Reddick, of Woodstown as that of Mattie Workman, a former acquaintance from Tennessee.

Relatives of Miss Workman are en route to New Jersey to view the body, Carton said, adding that Lawrence County, Tenn., authorities had advised him the relatives had not heard from her since she left Tennessee for New Jersey about three months ago.

The body of the woman was found in a trunk along the highway near Keyport April 19. She had been strangled with a dog leash. Police have sought for more than three weeks to identify the victim.

Dual Palestine State Is Urged By Soviet Union

Partition Is Called Only Other Solution

NEW YORK, May 14—(AP)—Soviet Russia called on the United Nations today for creation of an independent Jewish-Arab government in Palestine.

The Arabs immediately retorted that such a dual state would be impossible unless barriers were kept up against Jewish immigration into the Holy Land. The Jewish Agency for Palestine said it had no comment.

Linking his suggestion with a vigorous attack on Britain's administration of the Palestine mandate, Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told the General Assembly that the only other acceptable solution would be partition of Palestine into separate Jewish and Arab nations.

Arabs Oppose Partition

The Arabs have opposed partition. The Zionists have indicated acceptance of such a plan as a basis for discussion.

The long Soviet speech touched off extended debate and retarded the weary Assembly on its drive toward adjournment. Before quitting the 55 delegates must approve a Political Committee plan for setting up and instructing an 11-nation investigation commission to report on the entire Holy Land problem.

In the midst of the heated discussions, Norway brought forth a resolution calling on all parties to the Palestine problem to declare a truce for the duration of United Nations deliberations. The move asked for parties to refrain from "threat of force or any other action which might affect the problem."

The truce plea came here as explosions rocked areas in northern and southern portions of Palestine.

The Assembly adjourned at 6:53 p. m. (EDT) until 10 a. m. tomorrow after hearing Lebanon join the Arab country chorus against the resolution setting up the inquiry commission.

Adjournment Near

Assembly President Oswaldo Aranha, Brazil, predicted that the special session would adjourn finally some time tomorrow.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie, anticipating approval of the investigating commission, named Mr. Victor Hoo, of China, assistant secretary-general in charge of trusteeship affairs, to head a secretariat staff of 40 to 50 for the inquiry group.

The investigators yet to be named will be from Czechoslovakia, Canada, the Netherlands, Peru, Uruguay, Iran, Sweden, Yugoslavia, Guatemala, Australia and India.

The Arab countries' reply to Russia's dual-state plan was that such a move would not be acceptable unless restrictions continued on Jewish immigration in order to preserve the Arab populational majority now standing at 1,200,000 Arabs to 600,000 Jews. Faris Khoury, Syrian delegate, led off the Arab response on the Assembly floor.

Louisville Patrolmen Sue Actress, Husband

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 14 (AP)—Damage suits totaling $60,000 were filed in federal court here today against Actress Diana Barrymore and her tennis player husband, John R. Howard.

The suits were filed by Attorney Thomas H. Young for three Louisville patrolmen, each of whom is asking $20,000 from the couple as an aftermath to a fist swinging and name calling match between police and the Howards on a downtown street corner and in the police holdover early Sunday.

Patrolmen Joseph Shepherd, Walter Zettwoch and Joseph Martin charge in their suits that the Howards used vile and vulgar language, and hit them with such force as to do bodily harm without provocation.

Food For Germany

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — Secretary of War Patterson said today that more than 400,000 tons of food will be sent to Germany this month, a similar amount in June and "even more" in July.

BUS STRUCK BY TRAIN—A spectator (right) looks at the leg of a victim, protruding through the rear window of a bus, after the vehicle and a Baltimore and Ohio freight train crashed at Kenwood, near Bethesda, Md., yesterday. Three persons were killed and five others injured.

President Signs Portal Bill; Would Up Minimum Pay

Requests Extension Of Wage-Hour Law

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP) — President Truman today signed a bill to erase most portal-to-portal claims, past and future, and pleaded anew that the minimum wage be increased from 40 to 65 cents an hour.

In a message to Congress announcing he had approved the bill "in the interest of the economic stability of the nation," Mr. Truman also:

1. Asked that the wage-hour law be extended to "many persons not now protected" by it.

2. Announced that the portal act will require a bigger sum for enforcement of the wage-hour law. He will ask for it later.

3. Declared the new act should end pay uncertainties that will smooth out current wage negotiations and help business to plan full production and price reductions.

Effects To Be Watched

4. Asked Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach to keep an eye on the effects of the portal act. He announced he will ask Congress to take prompt action if it proves detrimental to fair labor standards.

The law sprang from a $6,000,000,000 deluge of suits in courts all over the country claiming portal back pay under the wage-hour law. This law sets a 40-cent minimum wage in interstate industry and requires payment of time and a half after 40 hours a week. An employer risks heavy damages if he violates the law. The portal suits were based on a Supreme Court decision that an employer may be liable for non-productive activities performed during time under his control. These include such things as walking to the work bench, sharpening tools, etc.

Clarification "Essential"

Mr. Truman wrote that judicial interpretation had "raised the possibility that employers might be required to pay back wages for certain activities which in most industries had not previously been considered by either workers or employers to be compensable."

"I believe that, in the interest of the economic stability of our nation, it is essential to clarify this matter by statute," he added.

The bill would outlaw most portal suits now on court dockets and would outlaw nearly all future suits. While the total of the suits at one time approximated $6,000,000,000 many were withdrawn after the key case—involving CIO pottery workers at Mount Clemens, Mich.—was dismissed at the union's request.

THREE PERSONS KILLED WHEN B. AND O. FREIGHT TRAIN BACKS INTO BUS

BETHESDA, Md., May 14 (AP)—Three persons were killed and five others injured when a Baltimore and Ohio freight train backed into a moving bus here late today.

Montgomery police said 13 persons were on the bus, which is owned by the Congressional Country Club and used to transport employes to and from the District of Columbia line, where bus service from Washington terminates.

Police identified the dead as Jeff Handy, a house man; and Shirley Gordon and Elsie Williams, maids.

Reports indicated, police said, that none of the passengers were killed by the impact, but were crushed to death while trying to escape from windows as the train shoved the overturned bus along the tracks.

W. Va. Phone Workers Get $2-$3 Boost

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 14 (AP)—Settlement of the 38-day-old West Virginia telephone strike on the basis of weekly wage increases of $2 and $3 was announced jointly tonight by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company and the Communication Workers Union.

Return of the striking workers was ordered to start tonight, but J. D. Shepherd, co-chairman of the union's negotiating committee, said "the union of its officers have no authority to order employes to cross picket lines."

Western Electric Company employes, stationed at Charleston, Huntington, Wheeling, Parkersburg and Clarksburg, still are on strike, and how many state employes would cross picket lines in those places remained problematical.

Shepherd said "our policy is to observe picket lines."

J. R. B. Crigler, vice president and general manager of the company, said the $3 weekly increase would apply to more than two-thirds of the union's approximately 3,200 members.

Shepherd and T. R. Null, president of the union, agreed to remove their union's picket lines immediately and to order employes back to work as soon as possible.

Phone Peace Not Yet Sighted

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The nation's telephone strike dwindled further today, but a complete end to it was not yet in sight.

Amid hopes for new wage offers from both sides soon, conciliators today put off until tomorrow negotiations between Western Electric and 20,000 striking workers of this big Bell Telephone System affiliate.

John Murray, Labor Department representative, said he recessed the talks until 9 a. m. (EST) to give both sides opportunity to discuss the dispute separately.

The negotiations involve the Association of Communications Equipment Workers, representing installation men.

Separate talks are being conducted with the Western Electric Employes Association, which has 22,000 members in 21 plants. The latter recessed until 9:30 a. m. (EST) tomorrow after a three-hour session.

New York Man Held In Slaying Of Child

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP) — A man identified by Police as Arnold Alexander (Lucky) Turner, 25, of New York City, was booked tonight on fugitive and homicide charges in the slaying last Saturday of five-year-old Carol Ann Thompson in Upper Gwynedd Township, Montgomery, Pa.

Efforts To Save Cultural Program Receive Setback

House Technicality Blocks Fund Motion

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — A technicality in the House today knocked flat efforts to rescue the State Department's cultural relations program and left it facing death June 30. But another try is in the making.

A point of order by Rep. Stefan (R-Neb) blocked a motion by Rep. Gary (D-Va) to provide $31,381,220 to continue the work beyond midyear. Gary sought to restore the sum to the State Department appropriaion bill, from which a committee had deleted it.

But Stefan insisted that since the program has not been set up by separate law, the House cannot appropriate for it under its rules. Rep. Curtis (R-Neb), presiding at the time, upheld Stefan. The House made no attempt to override the ruling.

In the House Foreign Relations Committee, a bill to authorize the program and meet this objection received the backing of Walter Bedell Smith, ambassador to Russia. The program is aimed to sell the American way of life abroad by radio broadcasts and other methods.

Smith declared the United States "cannot afford to remain silent." To the confused people of Central Europe, the United States must sell the idea of "a decent way of life for the average citizen," he said.

It appeared doubtful, however, that the authorization bill could catch up with the appropriation measure before the latter passes the House. In that event, it was indicated that supporters of the cultural program would attempt to have the Senate provide funds in hopes that the legal defect could be remedied in the meantime.

Issuance Of Sales Tax Licenses Starts Monday

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP)—Issuance of licenses required by merchants in connection with collection of the two per cent retail sales tax in Maryland after July 1 will be started next Monday, State Auditor Daniel L. Clayland announced today.

Clayland estimated 50,000 state vendors will be required to obtain the licenses.

Applications may be made either in person or by mail at the new headquarters of tax collection division in the Leeds Building, Baltimore.

Maryland-Wide Check Ordered By Committee

Senate Group's Vote Follows Party Lines

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The Senate Rules Committee, splitting on strict party lines, voted 8 to 5 today to order a state-wide recount in the disputed Maryland election last November of Sen. O'Conor, a Democrat.

Chairman Brooks (R-Ill.), of the Senate Rules Committee, said that "no definite trend" had been established in the recently-completed recount of paper ballots in five counties named by D. John Markey, defeated Republican candidate, as those with the most claimed irregularities. He added:

"The committee felt that it would be impossible to have a satisfactory result without completely counting the remaining 17 counties in the state."

O'Conor Won By 2,232 Votes

O'Conor, twice Governor of Maryland, won the election by an official state margin of 2,232 votes, or less than one-half of one per cent of the total 472,000 votes cast.

Markey's petition for a Senate investigation claimed errors and irregularities and said a fair count would make him the winner by more than 10,000 votes.

Counsel for Markey said that the state-wide recount ordered by the Rules Committee would be the first in the history of Maryland and the fourth ever ordered in Senate history.

The Senate previously took similar action in the Michigan election in 1918, in Texas in 1922 and in Iowa in 1924.

Brooks said that the committee vote on the Maryland state-wide recount was divided strictly on party lines with eight Republicans voting for and five Democrats against.

He said "up to now there has been no discovery of any fraud. It is a matter of votes received by the contestants as to be determined finally by the recount."

Brooks said that $23,000 has been spent thus far in the investigation of the election and he "anticipates a further appropriation will be necessary."

Will Start "Immediately"

O'Conor's attorneys estimated previously that from $60,000 to $160,000 would be required for a recount of the 17 additional counties.

Brooks said that the state-wide recount would be started "immediately" and would take about 13 weeks. This would conclude the recount after this session of Congress ends in July under present plans.

Brooks also announced that Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) had been named to succeed Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Ia.) on the subcommittee. The latter resigned, saying that he was pressed with other work, chiefly as chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

Brooks said that Markey had picked up 426 votes in a recheck of voting machine totals in Baltimore City and Montgomery County that preceded the recount of 60,000 paper ballots in Anne Arundel, Prince Georges, Howard, St. Mary's and Cecil Counties.

George Cochran Doub, attorney for Markey, said that Markey also had gained 809 more votes in the paper recount. However, Sen. Myers said if Markey had shown any gain it was only because he had challenged more votes than had O'Conor.

ICC Approves Pooling Of Pullman Business

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission today approved a plan under which 59 railroads propose to pool the equipment and earnings of the Pullman Company's sleeping car business.

Pullman is giving up the business of operating the cars and the major railroads have bid $40,000,000 for it.

The ICC was asked to approve their plan for operating the cars in a general pool which will make the equipment available not only to the owning roads but to other railroads desiring it.

The Justice Department sought to block sale of the Pullman business to the railroads on the grounds it tended towards monopoly. The Supreme Court approved the sale.

Labor Officials At Stuttgart Vote General Strike Due To Food Crisis

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 14—(AP)—Stuttgart factory labor leaders, in the first major strike action in the American occupation zone, voted angrily today to call a general walkout May 22 unless the German food crisis is solved immediately.

The strike threat came a few hours after Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor, predicted at a news conference here that the "desperate" crisis would be alleviated in a few weeks, and warned that any "political agitator" who stirred up trouble would be jailed.

The Stuttgart shop chairmen also demanded a 40-hour work week, asserting that factory employes had been so weakened by reduced food rations that they could not work 48 hours.

A succession of German speakers sharply criticized American food policies.

One chairman asserted that interned Nazis were receiving 1,700 calories of food a day, while many free Germans were "getting only 600 to 700 calories."

Germans are supposed to get 1,550 calories, which is considered by nutritionists to be minimum need for an extended period.

The threatened strike pointed up a report here by American official investigators, who said the Germans were showing an "ugly mood of bitter resentment" toward the United States.

Government, Lewis, Mine Owners Will Confer On Wage Question Today

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — The Federal Coal Mines Administration, John L. Lewis and the soft coal mine operators will go into a preliminary wage conference tomorrow amid new circumstances affecting southern operators' resistance to a nationwide contract.

These are:

1. Labor legislation has cleared the Senate minus the House restriction on nationwide bargaining.

2. The Coal Mines Administration has completed its survey of individual sentiment among southern producers regarding nationwide bargaining. Unofficial reports say that a number of large southern producers, in addition to some operators with properties both in the North and the South, now are willing to accept industry-wide bargaining.

The attitude of southern coal producers is the crux of current discussions preliminary to opening negotiations for a working contract between the Lewis' United Mine Workers and operators of the nation's soft coal mines.

In a statement after the break-up of last week's meeting, the Southern Coal Producers Association said it is unable for competitive reasons to bargain with the union on a nationwide basis, but is willing to negotiate on its own behalf.

OAKLAND, Md., May 14 — One hundred ninety-one seniors of the five high schools of Garrett County will be graduated in June, providing those named in the tentative lists complete their work between now and the end of the term, it was announced through F. E. Rathbun, county superintendent of schools, by the five principals.

This is a decrease of 11 over the tentative figures of the previous year when 202 were listed, and 35 less than the list of 226 three years ago.

Oakland High leads with 100, an increase of seven over the list of last year, and more than half the number in the entire county. Grantsville has 45 listed, seven less than last year.

Girls still outnumber the boys and by quite a majority, 114 to 77. Friendsville has 22, Grantsville 45, Accident 11, Oakland 100, Kitzmiller 8.

Voters Should Not Stand In Own Light On Voting Machines

An attempt to delay, or even deprive, the citizens of Allegany County of an opportunity for a more economic conduct of their elections through the use of voting machines has been undertaken by a few persons closely associated with the County Commissioners.

This group, headed by Lewis M. Wilson, attorney to the Board of County Commissioners, and Counselor-at-Law William A. Gunter, is circulating petitions in the name of employees of Allegany County to demand that the legislation directing the County Commissioners to install voting machines be submitted to the voters in a referendum at the next general election in November, 1948.

Of course, the time to have sought the referendum was when the legislation was pending in the Maryland General Assembly, but those who are now sponsoring such action either overlooked it, or were of the belief that a word of opposition from the County Commissioners and from those who thought they held some influence at Annapolis could induce Governor Lane to veto it.

In this they failed miserably, because Governor Lane, after carefully considering the measure, and following consultations was convinced the people of Allegany County desired voting machines, and signed the bill.

Those who have advocated installation of voting machines are confident the voters would approve the action of the Legislature in making it mandatory that the County Commissioners purchase the necessary machines. Because of this confidence they can find no good reason for delaying the use of them beyond 1948 merely to satisfy the whims of a few, who, for selfish motives, oppose the move.

The voting machine bill was not a partisan move but one on which both Republicans and Democrats agreed was a forward step that would prove economically sound. It is true that the installation of voting machines will make unnecessary the army of clerks and judges now required under our present voting system, but the patronage lost will not be any more to the disadvantage of Republicans than Democrats. On the other hand, it may become an advantage because considerable difficulty is always experienced in securing capable persons to man the polling places.

The County Commissioners are directed to purchase voting machines at a cost of approximately $140,000, to be paid for over a period of 20 years, at the rate of $7,000 annually. This called-for yearly payment is about half of what elections now cost the taxpayers, and the additional sums to be saved through the use of voting machines will take care of interest and other expenses in connection with them, without placing any greater burden on the taxpayers until they are paid for, after which the constant savings should reflect themselves in the tax rate levied against property owners.

Some help toward liquidating this cost can be had through the renting of the machines to other municipalities throughout the county, thus lowering the cost to those communities in conducting elections.

The argument that a warehouse large enough to house the voting machines will add to the overhead cost is debatable. We are of the opinion such a building need not be of immediate concern. The machines could be stored, between elections, where they are used, thus eliminating the cost of hauling to and from the precincts to a central depot. Insurance protection would cost little, if any more, under such an arrangement, than if they were concentrated in one place and under one roof, while the cost of maintenance should not be much greater than that entailed in repairing battered polling booths and other equipment now used.

It has been estimated a saving of $6,003.60, or about the total annual payment on the machines can be realized through a reduction in election officials, the number of precincts to a possible 57 from the present number of 75, overtime, now necessary in counting the ballots, of $1,550.40, to cite the cost in the most recent election, and in the number of ballots required under the voting machine procedure. Other advantages can be expected to be derived through the years voting machines would be in use.

Voters who will be approached by the carriers of the referendum petitions should keep these facts fixed in their minds and refuse to be led into signing a petition. Don't stand in your own way of bringing about this progressive, economic move.

Stassen says Stalin told him he wants to co-operate but the United States won't let him. Hitler would have told Harold the same thing had he called on the fuehrer 10 years ago.

Book Blurb Boomerangs

"A modern comic classic," said the cover blurb for "Aurora Dawn" by Herman Wouk. Yes, Wouk. "He uses the great English language in all its beautiful values." The book even sounds at times "as if it had been written with an ostrich quill in an eighteenth-century coffee shop."

Somewhere along the line the long-tried patience of book critics broke down. Instead of saying, "Not bad at all," they growled, "What's so inexpressibly wonderful about it?"

It has happened before. The patience of critics is not limitless. The incident wouldn't rate mention if something new had not been added. The blurb writer for once actually benefited by the spanking he got. Or perhaps he was fired and another hired to take his place.

At any rate, Simon and Schuster, publisher, ran another ad for the book headed, "Boy Were We Wrong!" It was full of breast-beating and mea culpas for the excessive blurbery. Only one thing was lacking.

They didn't promise never to do it again. But, of course, they don't expect to be "called" next time.

Identifying a lunatic cause is easy when it is remembered that people never get wildly excited about common sense.

It Mustn't Happen Here

Because he could not make good on a campaign promise, the mayor of Havana killed himself. He set an example which we hope will not be taken seriously by our own politicians. Such a practice in our country could almost amount to mass suicide of elected public officials.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE FIRST STETHOSCOPE

THE heart, lungs, and brain constitute the tripod of life and none of these organs can sustain any considerable or extensive morbid change without the greatest danger." Thus wrote Rene Laennec in his book, "On Mediate Ausculation," published in 1819. This publication gave the world the first description of the stethoscope.

Prior to the 19th century, physicians were handicapped greatly by their inability to detect heart and lung ailments. Neither X-ray nor electrocardiograf machines had been invented. To make matters worse, the medical man had not even learned to utilize the sense of hearing. Sight and touch were developed to a high degree but it took Laennec to devise the instrument with which the cardiac and breath sounds could be heard clearly and distinctly. Nowadays, few physicians are without their stethoscope and, in some respects, it has become a symbol of the profession.

The discovery was not entirely accidental. This promising young French doctor was intensely interested in trying to find ways of diagnosing in living subjects the various abnormalities that were frequently found at post mortems. While searching for the links between the living and the dead he wondered if anything could be learned by listening to the sounds made by the heart and lungs. Placing an ear against the chest had many drawbacks but it represented a step in the right direction.

A clew must have presented itself one day as he was strolling thru the city streets and saw a group of children playing with a wooden beam. At one end, some of the youngsters were tapping and scratching on the board; at the other, a few were listening. Whether the story is true matters little but this experience was undoubtedly recalled at a later date, when he was consulted by a young woman with a diseased heart. She was so obese that the usual methods of examination were of no avail. To solve the problem he conceived a gadget which he described as follows:

"Taking a sheaf of paper, I rolled it into a very tight roll, one end of which I placed over the cordial region, whilst I put my ear to the other. I was both surprised and gratified at being able to hear the beating of the heart with much greater clearness and distinctness than I had ever done before my direct application of my ear. I at once saw that this means might become a useful method for studying, not only the beating of the heart, but likewise all movements capable of producing sound in the thoracic cavity, and that consequently it might serve for the investigation of respiration, the voice, rales, and even possibly the movements of a liquid effused into the pleural cavity or pericardium."

He ultimately constructed a wooden stethoscope which consisted of a solid cylinder, with an opening running thru the center. In time the instrument was modified to what is today. Even electrical stethoscopes are available and the sounds can be recorded on phonografs and photografic films. This device was only one of the accomplishments of Laennec. Death came to him at the age of 45 and, in my opinion, he is one of the greatest physicians of all time.

MEAT IN ARTHRITIS

J. B. writes: "Will eating plenty of meat help to cure arthritis?

REPLY

The cure for this disease is not quite so simple. The majority of victims derive much needed nourishment from meat but if gouty arthritis is present the amount of animal protein must be restricted.

ABNORMAL SOUNDS

C. J. writes: What is a double murmur?

REPLY

The heart tones are made up of two distinct phases—when the valves open and when they close. If one sound is distorted, a single murmur is said to exist; when both are involved, a double murmur. This would imply that the inflow and outflow thru that valve are defective.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Publicity conscious Hollywood came up with a novel idea recently.

A contest was held in Arthur's restaurant to determine the best cook among the movie stars.

It was quite an extravagant affair. They tried type casting the celebrities in the kitchen.

Mickey Rooney was handling all the "short" orders.

Alfred Hitchcock came along to see that nothing was overdone.

Sydney Greenstreet was there but he didn't do any cooking. He just sat around and ate the mistakes.

Carmen Miranda made a Latin specialty with Mexican jumping beans, but we never did find out how it tasted. Nobody could trap it.

The rest of the stars concentrated on making fancy dishes. I stuck to the simple formula—"The Egg and I."

I looked around and it suddenly occurred to me that Lana Turner was the best dish there. She had everybody cooking—even before the contest.

Sinatra started to make an Italian specialty but he had to quit. He kept getting tangled up in the spaghetti.

Desi Arnaz made a hot tamale that was so hot, they had to bring it out on a hook and ladder.

But I was sure my cake would win. It would have if I hadn't been disqualified.

I forgot I wasn't ba ing it for my brother, and one of the judges discovered the hacksaw.

THE DARK FUTURE

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Truman Will Ask For Latin American Arms Program; Republicans Know How Arms Breed War; Another Missourian To Head Intelligence Unit

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 14—President Truman is sending a special message to Congress asking for authority to arm and train our good neighbors in Latin America, including our not-so-good neighbor—Argentina.

This arms program has a lot of kinks that may not at first catch the eye of the average Congressman. It is a program which previous Republican administrations wrestled with, and it was hoped the Democrats had profited by their lessons.

Back in the 1920's, the present Secretary of the Navy, James Forrestal, then part of Dillon, Read, international bankers, helped loan $20,000,000 to Bolivia which went to arm the Bolivian Army. The Bolivian people and even part of the Bolivian Cabinet did not know too much about this, but through a bribe (the more polite word is "commission") to the Minister of Finance, the loan was put across. Incidentally, it has never been repaid.

Most of the money went to Vickers, Ltd., British munitions firm, though part went to pay German military instructors to train Bolivia to wage war on its neighbor, Paraguay.

That attack started in 1928. Fortunately, Frank B. Kellogg, a Republican Secretary of State, and Charles Evans Hughes, a Republican ex-Secretary of State, happened to be engaged in a Pan American Conference at the time of the attack, and they succeeded in heading off war—temporarily. For some time thereafter, both Hughes and Kellogg did their best to undo the work of the Dillon-Read money which whetted the appetite of the Bolivian Army.

In the end, Kellogg and Hughes, though able men, were unsuccessful. Full-scale war broke and lasted so long that the Democrats inherited it.

How To Breed War

As the war continued, President Roosevelt later appointed Spruille Braden to try to patch up peace between the two countries. Braden moved to South America and spent a heroic, thankless year of his life undoing the martial influence of the Dillon-Read loan.

Today, Spruille Braden, Assistant Secretary of State in charge of Latin American affairs, has been doing his best to dissuade President Truman and Secretary Marshall from repeating the mistakes of the 1920's when we poured money into Latin America to buy arms.

However, the U. S. Army is against him. It is determined to start an arms program in Latin America, and Secretary of State Marshall, quite naturally, is swayed by the Army. Moreover, sincere and honest though he is, his own experience in Latin America is limited.

Unfortunately, the State Department already has seen some of the effects of a U. S. arms program in Latin America. Two things happen:

1. Latin American neighbors, hitherto reasonably peaceful see another nation getting arms and immediately want an army or navy bigger than the other fellow's. This leads to rivalry, bankruptcy, and war.

2. The Governments in power—many of them dependent on the army—become stronger than ever. Reinforced by U. S. arms, it is impossible for the opposition to vote them out. This makes for revolt and Communism—just what we want to avoid.

An illustration of point 1 occurred recently between Peru and Colombia. Colombia bought some transport planes from the United States. Then Peru came in and wanted to buy some fighters. Immediately, Colombia was back wanting to buy fighters too.

Munitions Before Health

Another inside incident recently occurred indicating the cross-fire existing between the U. S. Army and the State Department. The latter was anxious to get a moderate loan for Ecuador to improve its sanitation and drinking water. Some Ecuadorian cities are cesspools of disease. But because of the economy drive, higher-ups in the State Department, especially Undersecretary Will Clayton, said no.

Shortly thereafter, the U. S. Army came in with a demand that Ecuador get $1,020,000 to buy arms. Though money couldn't be spared for Ecuadorian health, it was proposed to spare $1,000,000 to entrench the military clique that rules the country. The final disposition of this arms request remains to be seen.

Another Missourian

President Truman has now picked another Missourian, Admiral Roscoe Henry Hillenkoeter, to be Chief of Central Intelligence. This is the new super-duper so-called "spy" agency set up since the war to ferret out what's going on in other countries.

Admiral Hillenkoetter not only was born in St. Louis, but commanded the battleship Missouri, which makes him a super-duper Missourian. The man Truman first picked to head Central Intelligence was also a Missourian, Admiral Sidney Souers of St. Louis. He was succeeded by General Hoyt Vandenberg, nephew of the Michigan Senator, an A-1 flying officer but no whirlwind at super-spying.

Admiral Hillenkoetter, whether it's because he's from Missouri or for other reasons, has an excellent reputation and may be able to overcome the disastrous fact that this vital agency has been under so many different heads in so short a time.

When the Admiral came up before the Senate Armed Services Committee for confirmation, he was subjected to cross-examination by New Hampshire's careful Senator Styles Bridges.

"I understand, Admiral," said Bridges, "that while you were Naval Attache in Paris last month, the news of your appointment as head of Central Intelligence was published in the Paris press. In fact, it was published in Paris well before it was known here."

The Admiral admitted that this was true.

"Now, do you think we should have as head of our very secret intelligence," pursued Bridges, "a man who let the news of his appointment leak out?"

"It was as big a surprise to me as to anyone," replied Hillenkoetter, obviously perturbed. "I read it in the French newspapers before I heard about it from my own Navy Department. Later I discovered that the French Secret Service seems to find out everything."

"Must be almost like Drew Pearson," cracked Senator Lister Hill of Alabama.

Senator Bridges then said that in view of the Admiral's explanation he would withdraw objection to the confirmation.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

PRESIDENT Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago apparently has a bear by the tail and can't let go. Because Henry Luce of Time, Inc., or both, slipped him $200,000 to investigate the press of this country, Hutchins ipso facto became an authority on the press.

That is the professorial habit of expertness. As soon as a professor gets a job and a title, he acknowledges himself as an expert and then demands that his private judgments be accepted as infallible.

So he collected a bunch of professors, including Archibald MacLeish and Beardsley Ruml, who somehow seem to have time on their hands and can therefore join myriads of committees, causes, movements, etc. And this gang of serious thinkers worked up a report. Finding that the press was an inadequate subject for their colossal professorial intellects, they added the movies and radio to it and called it all the press.

So the report was a seven-days wonder in this country and is already more or less forgotten except that the revered Professor Hocking of Harvard is bringing out a book on "Freedom of the Press" which the advance notice says "is as juicy as a steel rail, and it is divided into sections like a barbed-wire fence, offering the wayfarer similar inducements to repose, but only at the joints of the argument. Readers who do not care to try a hard job of thinking are advised to look elsewhere." I presume that it is the Commission's intention that nobody should read Professor Hocking's books, for who wants to read a "steel rail" or a "barbed-wire fence?" This is an indication of the smart-aleck intelligence of whoever wrote that piece: he is so smart he kicks himself in the head.

And now the learned Mr. Hutchins wallaces over to London where he explains all. He tells the British that the trouble with the American press is that it is privately owned by "irresponsible concentrations of private power." That aids and comforts the British Socialists who are after the British press, investigating it with an eye toward regulation or even nationalization if the Socialists get up enough gumption to do that.

Yet, President Hutchins, being at heart a liberal, opposes "government supervision." That puts him up a tree. If the government cannot supervise, it cannot control. Therefore, the professors hoped for some self-regulation by something like the NRA, I presume, or by professionalization, which means by Ph. D's. Hutchins has no hope that the American press will adopt self-regulation or professionalization, which is all right by me. If this were a "professionalized" institution, every man in it would have to have a certificate from a university acknowledging that if he had nothing else in his head, he knew the difference between a comma and a semi-colon, which would make a lot of jobs for professors and justify increased budgets for universities. Journalists would wear black gowns at least once a year.

Hutchins, having hit on nothing, suggests the press is "the only private power in the United States that remained free from criticism," which shows what he knows. If there is anything criticized, lambasted, attacked, denounced, maligned, abused—and loved—in the United States, it is the press. Every reader, and his wife, knows how to run a newspaper better than any publisher and editor. Mr. Hutchins ought to read my mail, particularly the anonymous letters, to know the depths of criticism which my poor secretary has to read, I avoiding such things between meals. Or he needs to read the enormous mail that any editor receives, some of which he even brushes up and prints. The press comes in for more criticism than any other American institution. It is constant and, curiously enough, taken very seriously.

No, I think we still must be Freudian and insist that the professors were really thinking of their universities when they wrote about the press, for it is the American university, hiding behind the slogan of academic freedom, that needs to answer for its sins. We might all look into what they are doing to our children. We might ask lots of questions about that.

Senate And House Voted Public Sentiment On Labor Legislation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 14—Public sentiment in America favors restriction of labor abuses—this is the true meaning of the two-thirds vote cast in both the Senate and House in support of labor legislation.

Public sentiment on the issue also is non-partisan. Thus, 21 Democrats in the Senate voted for the labor regulation bill and 21 Democrats opposed it, showing that the Democratic Party in the Senate as well as the House by no means regards the Wagner Labor Relations Act as untouchable.

Ever since 1935, it has been Democratic Party strategy to smother in committee reform bills on the labor question. Not only in the House but in the Senate a small group of members kept legislation from coming to the floor and thus did a distinct disservice to their country and to the cause of labor.

This ability readily to squelch legislation in committee also misled the labor-union leaders, many of whom confused the word leadership with Bossism. Just because they could control congressional committees or could depend on a White House veto, the labor union chieftains deluded themselves into believing that no legislation at all was needed.

Overlooked Public Sentiment

What these men overlooked was a simple thing called public sentiment, which is aroused when abuses occur. Certainly there must be many millions of rank-and-file workers who disagree with the labor-union bosses. The mail from these workers has been piling in at the Capitol. It is surprising that the labor chiefs never seemed to realize that their public relations were in need of improvement. Just as corporation executives a few decades ago said "the public be damned," so did the labor-union bosses echo the same sentiment in recent months. Consequently, the public interest has become clear and members of Congress have seen that reforms were long overdue.

The Senate bill is by no means the legislation the country wants. It is a bill evolved through political expediency—a desire of the Republican-Democratic coalition to avoid a presidential veto or at least to win, if possible, enough votes to override a veto.

The House bill represents more what the country really demands. The leaders of the House, however, are ready to compromise in conference along the lines of the Senate bill in order that some legislation may be enacted rather than no legislation. The administration spokesmen in Congress fumbled the ball on the veto question. They told the House and the country several weeks ago that Mr. Truman would veto the labor bill. This aroused Speaker Martin, who felt compelled to announce that, if the veto came and it wasn't overridden, this would be the end of labor legislation for this session. Sen. Barkley, administration leader, called this "intimidation" but he didn't refer to threats that came from Democratic sources and which influenced members of the Senate to soften the bill they were writing in order to placate the president.

Conferees Face Difficult Task

The joint conference committee will have a difficult task. Sen. Taft showed he can be a political strategist, too, when he named Sen. Ives as a conferee along with Sen. Ball. These three Republicans know the inside influences that prompted the Senate to pass the bill it did. Sen. Ellender, Democrat of Louisiana, is also thoroughly familiar with labor legislation, and, of course, Sen. Murray of Montana, Democrat, represents the New Deal viewpoint. These five Senate conferees will be all-powerful in writing the final bill. Out of the conference will come a bill that clarifies some of the ambiguities of the Senate bill and concedes certain points to the House.

If the President vetoes the conference bill, the margin above two-thirds in the House will be substantial but in the Senate the vote will be close and, despite the two-thirds vote for the Senate bill this week, some Senators may switch later and go along with Mr. Truman.

A small minority will thus have the responsibility for killing or enacting labor legislation at this session. But whatever bill is enacted will not impair labor's legitimate rights—in fact, the rights of unions will be considerably strengthened, even though employers' rights will be recognized for the first time.

Value Of Strategy Labor Used Over Legislation Debatable

By MARK SULLIVAN

The labor legislation, with the Senate and House versions both completed, now enters the stage of conference between committees of the two, in order to adjust differences and arrive at a common version. This may be prolonged and may give rise to important developments, due to possible insistence by the rugged House on retaining features of its stronger version.

To opponents of the legislation, however, there is little interest in all this. They know what the outcome of the conference must be. It can only be an adjustment between a fairly strong bill, which is the Senate's, and a really strong one which is the House version. To the opponents, their battle in Congress is over and lost.

The opponents now look to hope of a veto. On this they focus all their strength, which is not much, and all their skill in maneuver and propaganda, which is formidable. The aim is not primarily to put direct pressure for a veto on President Truman, for he has grown less and less subject to that; nor to draw him into direct co-operation with them, for he is less subject to that too. The aim of the opponents is rather to create throughout the country, and especially in Washington, an atmosphere which they hope the President will feel.

Fought All Legislation

To create justification or excuse for a veto and make a veto easier was the purpose of the opponents' final gesture, the substitute bill they put forward at the last hour. Previously, the labor leaders had taken a uniform position, flat and final. It was, no labor legislation what ever. Those words or equivalents had come over and over from top labor leaders. In hearings before the Congressional committees drafting the legislation, members patiently asked labor representatives, so frequently as to be almost a refrain, if they had suggestions to propose. They got none. Almost plaintively, Senator Ellender of Louisiana asked one labor representative, "why take the negative attitude that all labor leaders have taken." Head-on opposition to any and all labor legislation was the position taken over and over by CIO and its head, Mr. Philip Murray. As late as last week President Green of AFL reported that no legislation was necessary, "the problem cannot be solved merely by passing a law". The same position was taken by labor spokesmen in Congress; on the last day of the Senate debate Senator Wagner of New York denounced the Senate bill as "serving no useful purpose."

When the head-on battle for no legislation at all had been lost, when the opponents recognized that Congress was determined to write a bill, a little group of pro-labor Senators headed by Mr. Murray of Montana put forward a substitute bill—more than 100 days after consideration by Congressional committees began and three days before final debate ended. As the previous position had been insistence on nothing, the substitute bill was next to nothing. This substitute bill, Senator George of Georgia said, was a "watered down version of no consequence. . . a bill which will mean absolutely nothing to the American people." Said Senator Taft; "Am I to understand that at this late date, after two weeks of debate, the Senator from Montana proposes to offer a complete substitute for this bill—a substitute which no other Senator has yet seen?. . ."

The substitute bill was rejected Tuesday afternoon, almost contemptuously, by a vote of 73 to 19. By a likewise overwhelming vote, 68 to 24, the Senate adopted the regular bill.

Not Meant To Be Passed

But the overwhelming rejection of the substitute bill meant little to the labor spokesmen who proposed it. The substitute bill was not meant to be passed nor even taken seriously. The purpose of the substitute bill was for influence upon President Truman's decision whether to veto or sign the regular bill, and on the politics associated with a possible veto.

Before last-minute introduction of the substitute bill, the situation had been simple. If Mr. Truman should veto the regular bill, there would be no labor legislation whatever, and for this condition responsibility would be put on President Truman by the Republicans. By introducing the substitute bill, the labor spokesmen hoped to reverse the political onus. They enabled themselves to say that there had been presented to Congress a bill which the President would have signed; hence that refusal to accept this substitute bill put upon the Republicans the onus of no legislation at all.

It was a play of the sort the public enjoys in football. But one wonders if the public likes to see that sort of strategy in legislation. Or whether President Truman, who is not an adroit man, enjoys being put in a position of association with this kind of maneuver.

Frances M. Nichols vs. Harry Webster Nichols, No. 20017 Equity, in the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this bill is to secure the passage of a decree divorcing the Complainent, A VINCULO MATRIMONII, from the Defendant, Harry Webster Nichols.

The Bill of Complaint states that the couple were married on August twenty-eight, at Florence, South Carolina, and that they lived together for a little better than a month, returning to Cumberland, on September fifth, 1945; that no children were born and that the Defendant abondoned and deserted the Complainent without just cause or reason, and that the Complainant is a resident of Allegany County, Maryland, but that the Defendant is a non-resident of this state and when last heard from was a resident of the District of Columbia.

It is thereupon this 23rd day of April, 1947, ordered by the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that the Complainant cause a copy of this order to be inserted in one of the daily newspapers published in Allegany County, Maryland, once each week for four successive weeks before the 25th day of May, 1947, giving notification to the Defendant of the object and substance of this suit, and warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor on or before the 10th day of June, 1947, to show cause if any he may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Voters Should Not Stand In Own Light On Voting Machines

An attempt to delay, or even deprive, the citizens of Allegany County of an opportunity for a more economic conduct of their elections through the use of voting machines has been undertaken by a few persons closely associated with the County Commissioners.

This group, headed by Lewis M. Wilson, attorney to the Board of County Commissioners, and Counselor-at-Law William A. Gunter, is circulating petitions in the name of employees of Allegany County to demand that the legislation directing the County Commissioners to install voting machines be submitted to the voters in a referendum at the next general election in November, 1948.

Of course, the time to have sought the referendum was when the legislation was pending in the Maryland General Assembly, but those who are now sponsoring such action either overlooked it, or were of the belief that a word of opposition from the County Commissioners and from those who thought they held some influence at Annapolis could induce Governor Lane to veto it.

In this they failed miserably, because Governor Lane, after carefully considering the measure, and following consultations was convinced the people of Allegany County desired voting machines, and signed the bill.

Those who have advocated installation of voting machines are confident the voters would approve the action of the Legislature in making it mandatory that the County Commissioners purchase the necessary machines. Because of this confidence they can find no good reason for delaying the use of them beyond 1948 merely to satisfy the whims of a few, who, for selfish motives, oppose the move.

The voting machine bill was not a partisan move but one on which both Republicans and Democrats agreed was a forward step that would prove economically sound. It is true that the installation of voting machines will make unnecessary the army of clerks and judges now required under our present voting system, but the patronage lost will not be any more to the disadvantage of Republicans than Democrats. On the other hand, it may become an advantage because considerable difficulty is always experienced in securing capable persons to man the polling places.

The County Commissioners are directed to purchase voting machines at a cost of approximately $140,000, to be paid for over a period of 20 years, at the rate of $7,000 annually. This called-for yearly payment is about half of what elections now cost the taxpayers, and the additional sums to be saved through the use of voting machines will take care of interest and other expenses in connection with them, without placing any greater burden on the taxpayers until they are paid for, after which the constant savings should reflect themselves in the tax rate levied against property owners.

Some help toward liquidating this cost can be had through the renting of the machines to other municipalities throughout the county, thus lowering the cost to those communities in conducting elections.

The argument that a warehouse large enough to house the voting machines will add to the overhead cost is debatable. We are of the opinion such a building need not be of immediate concern. The machines could be stored, between elections, where they are used, thus eliminating the cost of hauling to and from the precincts to a central depot. Insurance protection would cost little, if any more, under such an arrangement, than if they were concentrated in one place and under one roof, while the cost of maintenance should not be much greater than that entailed in repairing battered polling booths and other equipment now used.

It has been estimated a saving of $6,003.60, or about the total annual payment on the machines can be realized through a reduction in election officials, the number of precincts to a possible 57 from the present number of 75, overtime, now necessary in counting the ballots, of $1,550.40, to cite the cost in the most recent election, and in the number of ballots required under the voting machine procedure. Other advantages can be expected to be derived through the years voting machines would be in use.

Voters who will be approached by the carriers of the referendum petitions should keep these facts fixed in their minds and refuse to be led into signing a petition. Don't stand in your own way of bringing about this progressive, economic move.

Stassen says Stalin told him he wants to co-operate but the United States won't let him. Hitler would have told Harold the same thing had he called on the fuehrer 10 years ago.

Book Blurb Boomerangs

"A modern comic classic," said the cover blurb for "Aurora Dawn" by Herman Wouk. Yes, Wouk. "He uses the great English language in all its beautiful values." The book even sounds at times "as if it had been written with an ostrich quill in an eighteenth-century coffee shop."

Somewhere along the line the long-tried patience of book critics broke down. Instead of saying, "Not bad at all," they growled, "What's so inexpressibly wonderful about it?"

It has happened before. The patience of critics is not limitless. The incident wouldn't rate mention if something new had not been added. The blurb writer for once actually benefited by the spanking he got. Or perhaps he was fired and another hired to take his place.

At any rate, Simon and Schuster, publisher, ran another ad for the book headed, "Boy Were We Wrong!" It was full of breast-beating and mea culpas for the excessive blurbery. Only one thing was lacking.

They didn't promise never to do it again. But, of course, they don't expect to be "called" next time.

Identifying a lunatic cause is easy when it is remembered that people never get wildly excited about common sense.

It Mustn't Happen Here

Because he could not make good on a campaign promise, the mayor of Havana killed himself. He set an example which we hope will not be taken seriously by our own politicians. Such a practice in our country could almost amount to mass suicide of elected public officials.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE FIRST STETHOSCOPE

THE heart, lungs, and brain constitute the tripod of life and none of these organs can sustain any considerable or extensive morbid change without the greatest danger." Thus wrote Rene Laennec in his book, "On Mediate Ausculation," published in 1819. This publication gave the world the first description of the stethoscope.

Prior to the 19th century, physicians were handicapped greatly by their inability to detect heart and lung ailments. Neither X-ray nor electrocardiograf machines had been invented. To make matters worse, the medical man had not even learned to utilize the sense of hearing. Sight and touch were developed to a high degree but it took Laennec to devise the instrument with which the cardiac and breath sounds could be heard clearly and distinctly. Nowadays, few physicians are without their stethoscope and, in some respects, it has become a symbol of the profession.

The discovery was not entirely accidental. This promising young French doctor was intensely interested in trying to find ways of diagnosing in living subjects the various abnormalities that were frequently found at post mortems. While searching for the links between the living and the dead he wondered if anything could be learned by listening to the sounds made by the heart and lungs. Placing an ear against the chest had many drawbacks but it represented a step in the right direction.

A clew must have presented itself one day as he was strolling thru the city streets and saw a group of children playing with a wooden beam. At one end, some of the youngsters were tapping and scratching on the board; at the other, a few were listening. Whether the story is true matters little but this experience was undoubtedly recalled at a later date, when he was consulted by a young woman with a diseased heart. She was so obese that the usual methods of examination were of no avail. To solve the problem he conceived a gadget which he described as follows:

"Taking a sheaf of paper, I rolled it into a very tight roll, one end of which I placed over the cordial region, whilst I put my ear to the other. I was both surprised and gratified at being able to hear the beating of the heart with much greater clearness and distinctness than I had ever done before my direct application of my ear. I at once saw that this means might become a useful method for studying, not only the beating of the heart, but likewise all movements capable of producing sound in the thoracic cavity, and that consequently it might serve for the investigation of respiration, the voice, rales, and even possibly the movements of a liquid effused into the pleural cavity or pericardium."

He ultimately constructed a wooden stethoscope which consisted of a solid cylinder, with an opening running thru the center. In time the instrument was modified to what is today. Even electrical stethoscopes are available and the sounds can be recorded on phonografs and photografic films. This device was only one of the accomplishments of Laennec. Death came to him at the age of 45 and, in my opinion, he is one of the greatest physicians of all time.

MEAT IN ARTHRITIS

J. B. writes: "Will eating plenty of meat help to cure arthritis?

REPLY

The cure for this disease is not quite so simple. The majority of victims derive much needed nourishment from meat but if gouty arthritis is present the amount of animal protein must be restricted.

ABNORMAL SOUNDS

C. J. writes: What is a double murmur?

REPLY

The heart tones are made up of two distinct phases—when the valves open and when they close. If one sound is distorted, a single murmur is said to exist; when both are involved, a double murmur. This would imply that the inflow and outflow thru that valve are defective.

Publicity conscious Hollywood came up with a novel idea recently.

A contest was held in Arthur's restaurant to determine the best cook among the movie stars.

It was quite an extravagant affair. They tried type casting the celebrities in the kitchen.

Mickey Rooney was handling all the "short" orders.

Alfred Hitchcock came along to see that nothing was overdone.

Sydney Greenstreet was there but he didn't do any cooking. He just sat around and ate the mistakes.

Carmen Miranda made a Latin specialty with Mexican jumping beans, but we never did find out how it tasted. Nobody could trap it.

The rest of the stars concentrated on making fancy dishes. I stuck to the simple formula—"The Egg and I."

I looked around and it suddenly occurred to me that Lana Turner was the best dish there. She had everybody cooking—even before the contest.

Sinatra started to make an Italian specialty but he had to quit. He kept getting tangled up in the spaghetti.

Desi Arnaz made a hot tamale that was so hot, they had to bring it out on a hook and ladder.

But I was sure my cake would win. It would have if I hadn't been disqualified.

I forgot I wasn't ba ing it for my brother, and one of the judges discovered the hacksaw.

THE DARK FUTURE

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Truman Will Ask For Latin American Arms Program; Republicans Know How Arms Breed War; Another Missourian To Head Intelligence Unit

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 14—President Truman is sending a special message to Congress asking for authority to arm and train our good neighbors in Latin America, including our not-so-good neighbor—Argentina.

This arms program has a lot of kinks that may not at first catch the eye of the average Congressman. It is a program which previous Republican administrations wrestled with, and it was hoped the Democrats had profited by their lessons.

Back in the 1920's, the present Secretary of the Navy, James Forrestal, then part of Dillon, Read, international bankers, helped loan $20,000,000 to Bolivia which went to arm the Bolivian Army. The Bolivian people and even part of the Bolivian Cabinet did not know too much about this, but through a bribe (the more polite word is "commission") to the Minister of Finance, the loan was put across. Incidentally, it has never been repaid.

Most of the money went to Vickers, Ltd., British munitions firm, though part went to pay German military instructors to train Bolivia to wage war on its neighbor, Paraguay.

That attack started in 1928. Fortunately, Frank B. Kellogg, a Republican Secretary of State, and Charles Evans Hughes, a Republican ex-Secretary of State, happened to be engaged in a Pan American Conference at the time of the attack, and they succeeded in heading off war—temporarily. For some time thereafter, both Hughes and Kellogg did their best to undo the work of the Dillon-Read money which whetted the appetite of the Bolivian Army.

In the end, Kellogg and Hughes, though able men, were unsuccessful. Full-scale war broke and lasted so long that the Democrats inherited it.

How To Breed War

As the war continued, President Roosevelt later appointed Spruille Braden to try to patch up peace between the two countries. Braden moved to South America and spent a heroic, thankless year of his life undoing the martial influence of the Dillon-Read loan.

Today, Spruille Braden, Assistant Secretary of State in charge of Latin American affairs, has been doing his best to dissuade President Truman and Secretary Marshall from repeating the mistakes of the 1920's when we poured money into Latin America to buy arms.

However, the U. S. Army is against him. It is determined to start an arms program in Latin America, and Secretary of State Marshall, quite naturally, is swayed by the Army. Moreover, sincere and honest though he is, his own experience in Latin America is limited.

Unfortunately, the State Department already has seen some of the effects of a U. S. arms program in Latin America. Two things happen:

1. Latin American neighbors, hitherto reasonably peaceful see another nation getting arms and immediately want an army or navy bigger than the other fellow's. This leads to rivalry, bankruptcy, and war.

2. The Governments in power—many of them dependent on the army—become stronger than ever. Reinforced by U. S. arms, it is impossible for the opposition to vote them out. This makes for revolt and Communism—just what we want to avoid.

An illustration of point 1 occurred recently between Peru and Colombia. Colombia bought some transport planes from the United States. Then Peru came in and wanted to buy some fighters. Immediately, Colombia was back wanting to buy fighters too.

Munitions Before Health

Another inside incident recently occurred indicating the cross-fire existing between the U. S. Army and the State Department. The latter was anxious to get a moderate loan for Ecuador to improve its sanitation and drinking water. Some Ecuadorian cities are cesspools of disease. But because of the economy drive, higher-ups in the State Department, especially Undersecretary Will Clayton, said no.

Shortly thereafter, the U. S. Army came in with a demand that Ecuador get $1,020,000 to buy arms. Though money couldn't be spared for Ecuadorian health, it was proposed to spare $1,000,000 to entrench the military clique that rules the country. The final disposition of this arms request remains to be seen.

Another Missourian

President Truman has now picked another Missourian, Admiral Roscoe Henry Hillenkoeter, to be Chief of Central Intelligence. This is the new super-duper so-called "spy" agency set up since the war to ferret out what's going on in other countries.

Admiral Hillenkoetter not only was born in St. Louis, but commanded the battleship Missouri, which makes him a super-duper Missourian. The man Truman first picked to head Central Intelligence was also a Missourian, Admiral Sidney Souers of St. Louis. He was succeeded by General Hoyt Vandenberg, nephew of the Michigan Senator, an A-1 flying officer but no whirlwind at super-spying.

Admiral Hillenkoetter, whether it's because he's from Missouri or for other reasons, has an excellent reputation and may be able to overcome the disastrous fact that this vital agency has been under so many different heads in so short a time.

When the Admiral came up before the Senate Armed Services Committee for confirmation, he was subjected to cross-examination by New Hampshire's careful Senator Styles Bridges.

"I understand, Admiral," said Bridges, "that while you were Naval Attache in Paris last month, the news of your appointment as head of Central Intelligence was published in the Paris press. In fact, it was published in Paris well before it was known here."

The Admiral admitted that this was true.

"Now, do you think we should have as head of our very secret intelligence," pursued Bridges, "a man who let the news of his appointment leak out?"

"It was as big a surprise to me as to anyone," replied Hillenkoetter, obviously perturbed. "I read it in the French newspapers before I heard about it from my own Navy Department. Later I discovered that the French Secret Service seems to find out everything."

"Must be almost like Drew Pearson," cracked Senator Lister Hill of Alabama.

Senator Bridges then said that in view of the Admiral's explanation he would withdraw objection to the confirmation.

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

PRESIDENT Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago apparently has a bear by the tail and can't let go. Because Henry Luce of Time, Inc., or both, slipped him $200,000 to investigate the press of this country, Hutchins ipso facto became an authority on the press.

That is the professorial habit of expertness. As soon as a professor gets a job and a title, he acknowledges himself as an expert and then demands that his private judgments be accepted as infallible.

So he collected a bunch of professors, including Archibald MacLeish and Beardsley Ruml, who somehow seem to have time on their hands and can therefore join myriads of committees, causes, movements, etc. And this gang of serious thinkers worked up a report. Finding that the press was an inadequate subject for their colossal professorial intellects, they added the movies and radio to it and called it all the press.

So the report was a seven-days wonder in this country and is already more or less forgotten except that the revered Professor Hocking of Harvard is bringing out a book on "Freedom of the Press" which the advance notice says "is as juicy as a steel rail, and it is divided into sections like a barbed-wire fence, offering the wayfarer similar inducements to repose, but only at the joints of the argument. Readers who do not care to try a hard job of thinking are advised to look elsewhere." I presume that it is the Commission's intention that nobody should read Professor Hocking's books, for who wants to read a "steel rail" or a "barbed-wire fence?" This is an indication of the smart-aleck intelligence of whoever wrote that piece: he is so smart he kicks himself in the head.

And now the learned Mr. Hutchins wallaces over to London where he explains all. He tells the British that the trouble with the American press is that it is privately owned by "irresponsible concentrations of private power." That aids and comforts the British Socialists who are after the British press, investigating it with an eye toward regulation or even nationalization if the Socialists get up enough gumption to do that.

Yet, President Hutchins, being at heart a liberal, opposes "government supervision." That puts him up a tree. If the government cannot supervise, it cannot control. Therefore, the professors hoped for some self-regulation by something like the NRA, I presume, or by professionalization, which means by Ph. D's. Hutchins has no hope that the American press will adopt self-regulation or professionalization, which is all right by me. If this were a "professionalized" institution, every man in it would have to have a certificate from a university acknowledging that if he had nothing else in his head, he knew the difference between a comma and a semi-colon, which would make a lot of jobs for professors and justify increased budgets for universities. Journalists would wear black gowns at least once a year.

Hutchins, having hit on nothing, suggests the press is "the only private power in the United States that remained free from criticism," which shows what he knows. If there is anything criticized, lambasted, attacked, denounced, maligned, abused—and loved—in the United States, it is the press. Every reader, and his wife, knows how to run a newspaper better than any publisher and editor. Mr. Hutchins ought to read my mail, particularly the anonymous letters, to know the depths of criticism which my poor secretary has to read. I avoiding such things between meals. Or he needs to read the enormous mail that any editor receives, some of which he even brushes up and prints. The press comes in for more criticism than any other American institution. It is constant and, curiously enough, taken very seriously.

No, I think we still must be Freudian and insist that the professors were really thinking of their universities when they wrote about the press, for it is the American university, hiding behind the slogan of academic freedom, that needs to answer for its sins. We might all look into what they are doing to our children. We might ask lots of questions about that.

Senate And House Voted Public Sentiment On Labor Legislation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 14—Public sentiment in America favors restriction of labor abuses—this is the true meaning of the two-thirds vote cast in both the Senate and House in support of labor legislation.

Public sentiment on the issue also is non-partisan. Thus, 21 Democrats in the Senate voted for the labor regulation bill and 21 Democrats opposed it, showing that the Democratic Party in the Senate as well as the House by no means regards the Wagner Labor Relations Act as untouchable.

Ever since 1935, it has been Democratic Party strategy to smother in committee reform bills on the labor question. Not only in the House but in the Senate a small group of members kept legislation from coming to the floor and thus did a distinct disservice to their country and to the cause of labor.

This ability readily to squelch legislation in committee also misled the labor-union leaders, many of whom confused the word leadership with Bossism. Just because they could control congressional committees or could depend on a White House veto, the labor union chieftains deluded themselves into believing that no legislation at all was needed.

Overlooked Public Sentiment

What these men overlooked was a simple thing called public sentiment, which is aroused when abuses occur. Certainly there must be many millions of rank-and-file workers who disagree with the labor-union bosses. The mail from these workers has been piling in at the Capitol. It is surprising that the labor chiefs never seemed to realize that their public relations were in need of improvement. Just as corporation executives a few decades ago said "the public be damned," so did the labor-union bosses echo the same sentiment in recent months. Consequently, the public interest has become clear and members of Congress have seen that reforms were long overdue.

The Senate bill is by no means the legislation the country wants. It is a bill evolved through political expediency—a desire of the Republican-Democratic coalition to avoid a presidential veto or at least to win, if possible, enough votes to override a veto.

The House bill represents more what the country really demands. The leaders of the House, however, are ready to compromise in conference along the lines of the Senate bill in order that some legislation may be enacted rather than no legislation. The administration spokesmen in Congress fumbled the ball on the veto question. They told the House and the country several weeks ago that Mr. Truman would veto the labor bill. This aroused Speaker Martin, who felt compelled to announce that, if the veto came and it wasn't overridden, this would be the end of labor legislation for this session. Sen. Barkley, administration leader, called this "intimidation" but he didn't refer to threats that came from Democratic sources and which influenced members of the Senate to soften the bill they were writing in order to placate the president.

Conferees Face Difficult Task

The joint conference committee will have a difficult task. Sen. Taft showed he can be a political strategist, too, when he named Sen. Ives as a conferee along with Sen. Ball. These three Republicans know the inside influences that prompted the Senate to pass the bill it did. Sen. Ellender, Democrat of Louisiana, is also thoroughly familiar with labor legislation, and, of course, Sen. Murray of Montana, Democrat, represents the New Deal viewpoint. These five Senate conferees will be all-powerful in writing the final bill. Out of the conference will come a bill that clarifies some of the ambiguities of the Senate bill and concedes certain points to the House.

If the President vetoes the conference bill, the margin above two-thirds in the House will be substantial but in the Senate the vote will be close and, despite the two-thirds vote for the Senate bill this week, some Senators may switch later and go along with Mr. Truman.

A small minority will thus have the responsibility for killing or enacting labor legislation at this session. But whatever bill is enacted will not impair labor's legitimate rights—in fact, the rights of unions will be considerably strengthened, even though employers' rights will be recognized for the first time.

Value Of Strategy Labor Used Over Legislation Debatable

By MARK SULLIVAN

The labor legislation, with the Senate and House versions both completed, now enters the stage of conference between committees of the two, in order to adjust differences and arrive at a common version. This may be prolonged and may give rise to important developments, due to possible insistence by the rugged House on retaining features of its stronger version.

To opponents of the legislation, however, there is little interest in all this. They know what the outcome of the conference must be. It can only be an adjustment between a fairly strong bill, which is the Senate's, and a really strong one which is the House version. To the opponents, their battle in Congress is over and lost.

The opponents now look to hope of a veto. On this they focus all their strength, which is not much, and all their skill in maneuver and propaganda, which is formidable. The aim is not primarily to put direct pressure for a veto on President Truman, for he has grown less and less subject to that; nor to draw him into direct co-operation with them, for he is less subject to that too. The aim of the opponents is rather to create throughout the country, and especially in Washington, an atmosphere which they hope the President will feel.

Fought All Legislation

To create justification or excuse for a veto and make a veto easier was the purpose of the opponents' final gesture, the substitute bill they put forward at the last hour. Previously, the labor leaders had taken a uniform position, flat and final. It was, no labor legislation what ever. Those words or equivalents had come over and over from top labor leaders. In hearings before the Congressional committees drafting the legislation, members patiently asked labor representatives, so frequently as to be almost a refrain, if they had suggestions to propose. They got none. Almost plaintively, Senator Ellender of Louisiana asked one labor representative, "why take the negative attitude that all labor leaders have taken." Head-on opposition to any and all labor legislation was the position taken over and over by CIO and its head, Mr. Philip Murray. As late as last week President Green of AFL reported that no legislation was necessary, "the problem cannot be solved merely by passing a law". The same position was taken by labor spokesmen in Congress; on the last day of the Senate debate Senator Wagner of New York denounced the Senate bill as "serving no useful purpose."

When the head-on battle for no legislation at all had been lost, when the opponents recognized that Congress was determined to write a bill, a little group of pro-labor Senators headed by Mr. Murray of Montana put forward a substitute bill—more than 100 days after consideration by Congressional committees began and three days before final debate ended. As the previous position had been insistence on nothing, the substitute bill was next to nothing. This substitute bill, Senator George of Georgia said, was a "watered down version of no consequence. . . a bill which will mean absolutely nothing to the American people." Said Senator Taft; "Am I to understand that at this late date, after two weeks of debate, the Senator from Montana proposes to offer a complete substitute for this bill—a substitute which no other Senator has yet seen?. . ."

The substitute bill was rejected Tuesday afternoon, almost contemptuously, by a vote of 73 to 19. By a likewise overwhelming vote, 68 to 24, the Senate adopted the regular bill.

Not Meant To Be Passed

But the overwhelming rejection of the substitute bill meant little to the labor spokesmen who proposed it. The substitute bill was not meant to be passed nor even taken seriously. The purpose of the substitute bill was for influence upon President Truman's decision whether to veto or sign the regular bill, and on the politics associated with a possible veto.

Before last-minute introduction of the substitute bill, the situation had been simple. If Mr. Truman should veto the regular bill, there would be no labor legislation whatever, and for this condition responsibility would be put on President Truman by the Republicans. By introducing the substitute bill, the labor spokesmen hoped to reverse the political onus. They enabled themselves to say that there had been presented to Congress a bill which the President would have signed; hence that refusal to accept this substitute bill put upon the Republicans the onus of no legislation at all.

It was a play of the sort the public enjoys in football. But one wonders if the public likes to see that sort of strategy in legislation. Or whether President Truman, who is not an adroit man, enjoys being put in a position of association with this kind of maneuver.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Frances M. Nichols vs. Harry Webster Nichols, No. 20017 Equity, in the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this bill is to secure the passage of a decree divorcing the Complainant, A VINCULO MATRIMONII, from the Defendant, Harry Webster Nichols.

The Bill of Complaint states that the couple were married on August twenty-eight, at Florence, South Carolina, and that they lived together for a little better than a month, returning to Cumberland, on September fifth, 1945; that no children were born and that the Defendant abondoned and deserted the Complainant without just cause or reason, and that the Complainant is a resident of Allegany County, Maryland, but that the Defendant is a non-resident of this state and when last heard from was a resident of the District of Columbia.

It is thereupon this 23rd day of April, 1947, ordered by the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that the Complainant cause a copy of this order to be inserted in one of the daily newspapers published in Allegany County, Maryland, once each week for four successive weeks before the 25th day of May, 1947, giving notification to the Defendant of the object and substance of this suit, and warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor on or before the 10th day of June, 1947, to show cause if any he may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Renew Thyself!

I once read of a Chinese King who had engraved upon his bathing tub these words: "Renew thyself completely each day; do it again, and again, and forever again!" A very good motto to have engraved upon every one of our bathing tubs.

Every single new day should be a revelation to us—a renewal that should so thrill us that we would enter that day with zest and with steam set for a straight road ahead. As a boy I used to bounce out of bed, thrilled to be given another day. No longer do I bounce with the same unconquerable energy, but with the same purpose, and with the same thrill—for what can compare to this gift of still another day?

Every sunrise is a doxology an every sunset a requiem to the dying day. Renew thyself with each new day, and review each act and thought at its close. Appraise and take stock of all that has transpired, and seek the peace of rest and sleep in a prayer of thanksgiving. Do but this and no sleeping pills will be necessary. You will awake renewed in body and spirit.

All of us carry too much equipment into each new day. The call at every daybreak should be to simplify, simplify. The clean desk meeting the clear eye and mind, is what gives to each day its greatest inspiration.

Renew thyself—without fear. Face the sunlight with confidence and an abiding faith. Expect the better things and revel in the anticipation of good news. Faith is the master bridge builder, with every essential bridge already built in advance——if it becomes necessary to cross it. Anyway no bridge can be crossed until you get to it!

Renew thyself in Nature's realm. Here there is exemplified courage under stress and storm, and natural procedures that give to us new lessons in hope, picturing events far more thrilling and important than most of the acts of men who worry their lives away under wasteful circumstances. There is a divinity in Nature unknown, or even dreamed of, in the market place.

"Renew thyself completely each day; do it again, and again, and forever again!"

● True, that "little illness" you've been mentioning in an offhand way, may not seem to amount to much—just a few faint symptoms. THE DEBT WE OWE

His ancestors—says he—date back through 110 years of American life since when they have all been proud and useful citizens. He himself is 53 years old, married, with children, and with roots that go deep into our American soil.

"But," says he, "we would not like to have either Jew, Chinese, Pole, Italian, negro, etc., move next door to us or mingle socially with us. How about you?" His name is Fred A. Rochester and his address is 229 E. 25th Street, Baltimore, Maryland.

Don't look to me to support your brand of Americanism, brother, for I have lived next door to all these people whom you would isolate and have mingled socially with them to my great advantage.

Who made this America anyway? What is an American? The only person in this hemisphere who has a right to call himself an American is an Indian. The rest of us are interlopers and for the large part stupid, ungrateful and unfair.

Our land was not made by northerners, southerners, easterners or westerners. It was made by a mingling of the sweat and dreams and talents of all the peoples of the earth and there is not one of us today who is not born owing a great debt to men and women of other races and creeds.

The Poles have contributed to our culture just as much as the citizens of the British Isles. The charming beauty of life in the old south would not have been possible if black hands had not toiled to make it so. And the poorest Chinese peasant can make our supposed courtesy look like slapstick.

Each and every one of the people whom you condemn and would not mingle with socially has contributed to all that you hold most precious in America today. I am a westerner. The grace and beauty of my beloved state were made possible by millions of Spanish and Mexican inhabitants who came long before the gold rush.

There is no part of our life which has not been enriched by men of other lands and other cultures—men and women whose standards far exceeded our own. We were born in debt to all the rest of creation and our attempt to sneak out of that debt by our intolerance and stupidity is one of the most contemptible blots on our history.

Each day of my life increases my realization of that debt. Each day I learn more deepiy that there is no such a thing as a 100 per cent American. There is only 100 per cent humanity from which we have taken all the wealth and wisdom and power we possess.

We cannat laugh these facts off or boast them away for they are the living truth. They are the basic facts on which our nation is founded. We are not one people, nor ever will be. We are many people and every man who qualifies by his service and his private acts to meet our standards has as much right to be accepted as a citizens of these United States as any Dutchman who ever came over on the Mayflower.

Frostburg Man Fined In Crash

Arrested 30 minutes after a two-truck collision early yesterday morning on Williams Street, Edward C. Moran, Frostburg, was fined $60 and costs when arraigned later in Trial Magistrates Court and found guilty by Magistrate Frank A. Perdew on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and driving without a license.

Police said the truck Moran was driving crashed against the front of a truck owned by Davis and Miller, local garbage contractors, and driven by Arthur F. McBride, 604 Central Avenue, in front of Kingsley Methodist Church. No one was injured.

Lt. James E. Van, who investigated, said that after the crash Moran backed up and fled from the scene. He was apprehended a short time later at Lover's Leap Service Station by Van and Officer P. M. Crabtree.

Magistrate Perdew fined Moran $50 and $1.45 costs on the charge of leaving the scene of the accident and $10 and $1.45 costs on the license charge. He was committed to the county jail for 40 days in default of the fines but later paid up and was released.

JURY

walk a mile to pay you a penny if you had it coming, and I have always found him exceptionally truthful."

Created Wide Interest

The case created more interest in Mineral and surrounding counties than any homicide in many years. There had been numerous expressions of opinion as to his guilt or innocence, so much so that great difficulty was encountered by Judge See in panelling a jury.

Setting something in the way of judicial history, the case was called for trial at the previous term of court, and after 96 jurors had been examined and 19 of a required panel of 20 seated, Judge See ruled that a jury would be called from Tucker county.

Defense attorneys fought the move, filing a petition in the West Virginia Court of Appeals, demanding a Mineral county jury. The Appeals Court reversed Judge See, and ordered him to exhaust the list of potential jurors, before going to Tucker county.

At this term of court, 169 prospective jurors were examined before a panel was completed. Most disqualified themselves because they had formed fixed opinions as to Cosner's guilt or innocence. Over a score said they opposed capital punishment.

The jury was completed Thursday noon, and the case went to trial last Thursday afternoon, with the state asking for a first degree murder verdict without recommendation, and the defense asking for an acquittal by reason of temporary insanity.

Rulings of the Court, excluding much of the testimony of defense witnesses from the jury, left Cosner the sole defense witness before the 12 veniremen.

Cosner Recounted Events

Cosner, on the stand over two hours, told of his wife's unfaithfulness, said she had neglected her children and home and had repeatedly defied his efforts to persaude her to conduct herself properly. He told the jury of a long period of effort to keep his home together, culminated with a violent quarrel the early morning of September 3, when his mind "went blank" and he clubbed his wife to death as she lay in her bed.

He described clearly events leading up to the tragedy, and events that followed, saying he did not remember going to the basement for the ball bat, as the state charged, and did not remember striking his wife with the bat. He said he "came to" himself standing over her with the broken handle of the bat in his hands.

The defense pleaded and argued that Cosner "stood all any man could stand and his brain snapped." His attorneys declared, "this is not the action of a sane man," and "he had reached the breaking point."

Deliberated Six Hours

The case went to the jury at about 3:30 p. m. Tuesday and it deliberated until about 6 p. m. Court was then adjourned until 10 a. m. yesterday, when deliberations were resumed. After being out 38 minutes, the veniremen returned to the Court room and asked Judge See to read instructions as to the possible verdicts again.

Deliberations were resumed and continued until noon when a recess was called. The jury returned about 1:30 p. m. and a little over two hours later, returned the acquittal vedict. In all, the jury deliberated about six to seven hours.

This case completes the criminal trials so far as jury cases for this term of Mineral County Circuit Court are concerned, Judge See said last night. Judge See will go to Petersburg, W. Va., next week to open the jury term of Grant County Circuit Court there.

Do you feel all puffed-up and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in helping your stomach do the job—it should be doing—in the digestion of its food.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.
Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Cosner Recounted Events

Cosner, on the stand over two hours, told of his wife's unfaithfulness, said she had neglected her children and home and had repeatedly defied his efforts to persaude her to conduct herself properly. He told the jury of a long period of effort to keep his home together, culminated with a violent quarrel the early morning of September 3, when his mind "went blank" and he clubbed his wife to death as she lay in her bed.

He described clearly events leading up to the tragedy, and events that followed, saying he did not remember going to the basement for the ball bat, as the state charged, and did not remember striking his wife with the bat. He said he "came to" himself standing over her with the broken handle of the bat in his hands.

The defense pleaded and argued that Cosner "stood all any man could stand and his brain snapped." His attorneys declared, "this is not the action of a sane man," and "he had reached the breaking point."

Deliberated Six Hours

The case went to the jury at about 3:30 p. m. Tuesday and it deliberated until about 6 p. m. Court was then adjourned until 10 a. m. yesterday, when deliberations were resumed. After being out 38 minutes, the veniremen returned to the Court room and asked Judge See to read instructions as to the possible verdicts again.

Deliberations were resumed and continued until noon when a recess was called. The jury returned about 1:30 p. m. and a little over two hours later, returned the acquittal vedict. In all, the jury deliberated about six to seven hours.

This case completes the criminal trials so far as jury cases for this term of Mineral County Circuit Court are concerned, Judge See said last night. Judge See will go to Petersburg, W. Va., next week to open the jury term of Grant County Circuit Court there.

IF STOMACH BALKS DUE TO GAS AND BLOAT

Help Get Food Digested to Relieve Yourself of This Nervous Distress

Do you feel all puffed-up and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in helping your stomach do the job—it should be doing—in the digestion of its food.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Should A Girl Apologize When She's At Fault? Is A Silly Question

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been going with a boy for several months, and like him and I believe he likes me, too. But we seem to have silly little arguments which are usually my fault.

Do you think the girl should apologize if it's her fault?

"ANXIOUS."

Dear "Anxious:"

Don't you think this is a pretty silly question?

For heavens' sake, why on earth wouldn't a girl apologize if she has been at fault with anyone in any way? The only possible notion I can figure out that you must have in your head to ask such a question would be that you consider it the duty of any male to take the blame for any quarrel with any female, whether he was the guilty one or not, which is the most idiotic thing I ever heard of.

Your boy friend may like you now, but he won't keep it up long if you keep trying to pull this sort of thing on him.

Rectangle Instead of Triangle

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a married woman of 25, and my husband is 35. He had just returned from overseas after serving there for four years.

While he was away, I fell in love with a fine widower. He has told me in many ways how much he really cares for me. Not long before my husband returned, he quit seeing me, and I feel that he is trying to be fair with us.

I did not tell my husband of this while he was away, for fear of worrying him, but since he has been home I have found him talking seriously to my sister, who has been staying with me. When my husband was out late, his reason was that he was working late, but the gossip is that he has been with my sister several times. We had an argument, and my sister left. My husband says that he is in love with her.

When my sister left, she became employed in the same town as my widower friend. She knew him before, and has written to tell me she has finally found that he is the one she loves.

I am not living with my husband, and I miss him very much, yet I feel I love this other man more than ever. I would be very grateful, if you could advise me what to do.

EVELYN.

Dear Evelyn:

You say your sister claims to be in love with your widower, but you don't say whether or not you know how he feels towards her. Possibly you will find the whole matter taken out of your hands by the two of them making a match. I can't see that this man has too much to recommend him anyhow. If he were so anxious to be fair to you, he would never have tried to steal your love in your husband's absence.

My advice is for you to try a new start with your husband. Maybe he was simply making a play for your sister in retaliation for your disloyalty to him. You admit you miss him, and no doubt he misses you just as much. If I were you, I'd make a sincere attempt to iron things out between the two of you and see if you can't salvage your marriage before running out on it.

Soliciting Teams For New Factory To Meet May 19

Frostburg Canvass Termed "Lagging"

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, May 14—A meeting of all soliciting teams appointed March 15 by the Frostburg Business Association to raise funds for the proposed new pajama factory for the M. Berkowitz Company, which has been operating here for the past 30 years, will be held Monday, May 19, at 8 p. m. in City Hall.

The soliciting campaign to sell $80,000 worth of bonds to aid in the erection of the factory, according to a statement by Thomas Elias, chairman, is lagging far behind. The bonds, Elias said, will be secured by a first moragage on the building and site and will bear interest at the rate of two per cent per annum. A large thermometer in the show window of the Beall Insurance office, with photographs of workers in the present factory, has been standing at a point indicating the sale of $20,000, and has been at that point for the past month.

The city fathers were notified in a letter from the company dated June 24, 1946, that it has become impractical in a competitive and economic sense to continue indefinitely manufacturing operations in Frostburg with existing facilities and conditions at the present plant. Since that time plans have been made by the Frostburg Business Association to raise sufficient funds to aid the comuany to have a new factory building here.

After all agreements between the Berkowitz Company and the Frostburg Business Association were completed, an appeal in the form of a letter, dated March 19, 1947, was mailed to practically every citizen and all fraternal groups in the city, stating that the erection of the new factory would increase the number of employes from 210 to 400 and the payroll from $300,000 to $600,000 annually. The letter was followed by the personal campaign. The meeting Monday evening, according to Elias, is being called to get latest reports from solicitors and arouse renewed interest in the drive.

Solicitors appointed to work in pairs, are Frank Powers, Carmel Pinto, William Lemmert, H. C. Carl, F. Earl Kreitzburg, Harry Hanson, Ira Langeluttig, Dr. W. E. Jeffries, Robert Karlowa, Jack Palmer, W. B. Yates, Robert Bachman, Edna Griffith, Pearl Mattingly, Gerald Groves, Ralph Race, Jesse Jacobs, William Dolder, Charles Hill, Marshall Skidmore, A. C. Stewart, Walter Mackay, Harry G. Shupe and Herbert Loar.

Among the applications are those of two advanced students. Norma Fell of Cecil County is transferring to Frostburg after cmpleting two years of work at Wesley Junior College, Dover, Del. Betty May, a Fort Hill graduate, is coming to Frostburg after a year at Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa.

Fort Hill seniors who have enrolled from Cumberland are Marguerite Hilleary, Bernard Price, Dolores Riggs, and Carolyn Ringler. Seventy persons attended the dinner. Earl E. Manges, Cumberland attorney, was the principal speaker. Ralph E. Brown showed movies which he took while stationed in the Fiji Islands with the Army. Tulips featured the table decorations, and each woman present received a corsage.

Officers of the lodge are John Poland, worshipful master; Ralph E. Brown, senior warden; John D. Koontz, junior warden; Joseph Thomas Jenkins, senior deacon; Richard Hotchkiss, junior deacon; Robert N. Barth, treasurer; Raymond L. Himmelwright, secretary; and Henry Johnson, tiler.

A perfect attendance award was presented to Ann Sweene, and the 11 original members also received awards. Members range from 9 to 18 years of age, and meetings are now being held in various halls instead of in private homes, because of the increasing membership.

Masonic Lodge In Mt. Savage Holds Banquet

By MRS. ROSE O'ROURKE

MT. SAVAGE, May 14—For its first social event in a number of years, Kemp Lodge No. 154, A. F. and A. Masons of Mt. Savage held a dinner recently in St. George's parish house, marking the 76th anniversary of the lodge, which was organized in February, 1871.

Early records of the lodge, which has a membership of 52 persons, were destroyed when the old Odd Fellows Hall burned down.

Seventy persons attended the dinner. Earl E. Manges, Cumberland attorney, was the principal speaker. Ralph E. Brown showed movies which he took while stationed in the Fiji Islands with the Army. Tulips featured the table decorations, and each woman present received a corsage.

4-H Club Holds Party

In observance of its second birthday, members of the Mt. Savage 4-H Club held a party Tuesday evening in St. George's parish house, featuring a Mother's Day program. Mothers of the Calla Hill and Church Hill groups were guests.

The club had 11 members when it was organized two years ago, but the number is near the 60 mark at present. Mrs. Elsie Sweene, Mrs. Raymond Yutzy, Mrs. Elizabeth Jenkins and Mrs. Martha Wilson are leaders.

A perfect attendance award was presented to Ann Sweene, and the 11 original members also received awards. Members range from 9 to 18 years of age, and meetings are now being held in various halls instead of in private homes, because of the increasing membership.

Nancy Cooley exhibited nine dolls from foreign countries, and Margaret Stowel displayed a collection of baskets, shells, native coins, a grass skirt and a large native hat sent to her by her father from the Philippines, Fiji Islands and Australia.

King Service

A funeral service for John Joseph King, 60, who died late Friday night at his home, was held yesterday morning with a requiem mass at St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Pallbearers were Joseph Dickle, Joseph Carter, Joseph Nolan, Charles Winner, James Wharton, Francis Herbert and Delbert Smiley. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Stewart Is Freed In Woman's Death

Charged with manslaughter by motor vehicle in the death of Mrs. Ella Orpha Flanigan, 45, 720 Lafayette Avenue, on Virginia Avenue April 19, George Bennett Stewart, 23, 209 Mary Street, was acquitted by Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court.

The magistrate said there was a lack of evidence to show gross negligence.

Testimony showed that the victim fell asleep on a bus while en route home and failed to get off at her regular stop, riding to the end of the line and on the return trip getting off across the street. She had started to cross the avenue at Bowen Street when she was struck. She died the following day in Memorial Hospital.

Stewart told authorities he saw the woman standing on the curb when he was 50 feet away, and that when he noticed her again she was in the street 15 feet from his vehicle. He said he tried to hit a telephone pole in an effort to avoid striking the woman who was in the middle of the street, but that his car skidded on the wet street and struck both the woman and the pole.

Wilbur E Fogle, 216 Piedmont Avenue, was fined $5 and costs on a charge of assaulting William C. Graham, Roberts Street, and $11.45 for allegedly damaging and tampering with the man's auto on Sunday. A sentence of 30 days in the County Jail on the latter charge was suspended with the provision that Fogle stay away from Graham. There were differences between the two men, court attaches said, as a result of Fogle's sister being out with Graham.

Catanese Released

Jimmie Catanese, local amateur boxer, who police said attempted to kill himself twice on Sunday, once at Lover's Leap and again by hanging in his city jail cell, was released yesterday morning after questioning by State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris.

Harris said Catanese was given a lecture and told to return to his parents' home to reside. Catanese also said he would take a pledge not to drink and promised to attend church services regularly on Sundays.

COUNCIL TO HOLD BUDGET DISCUSSION

At a special session yesterday, the Mayor and Council set Saturday at 10 a. m. as the meeting time for dicussing the 1947-48 budget, and Mayor Thomas S. Post requested department heads to submit requests to City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson as soon as possible.

The council voted to pay Clifton Van Roby, a member of the Recreation Board, $9.19 as expenses in connection with preliminary work concerning the employment of Charles L. Taylor as recreation director. The latter resigned.

Mayor Post reported Fire Chief Reid C. Hoenicka is objecting to the changes in City Hall Plaza to provide more parking space for cars of city workers. The mayor said Hoenicka wants Liberty Street widened so that fire trucks will be better able to make turns into Bedford Street.

Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, said street space will be the same under the new plan as before and suggested if cars are parked in proper places there will be no difficulty. No action was taken by the council.

Commissioner William V. Keegan reported he would like permission to purchase a second new cruiser car for the Police Department. He said two old cars have been sold and replaced with one new car. An order to ask for bids will be presented Monday.

The semi-monthly payroll was approved.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Industry Looks at Our Town

Maybe you read how a group of industrial experts have decided that the small town is the place for industry—not big cities. Reasons they give are better housing, pleasanter living, and more opportunity for wholesome recreation.

Well, looking around our town I'd say that was about right. Most of us own our homes, and keep them looking nice; we enjoy each other's company: and our recreations are mostly simple outdoor sports, and in the evening a mellow glass of beer with pleasant company.

As Doc Walters says, that sort of life just naturally sets you up for work the next day . . . whether it's in office, mill, or field. And Doc should know. He works fourteen hours, but never misses his morning "constitutional" or his evening glass of beer with friends.

From where I sit, any industry could profit from being in a town where wholesome living, temperance, and friendship are the rule.

COUNCIL TO HOLD BUDGET DISCUSSION

At a special session yesterday, the Mayor and Council set Saturday at 10 a. m. as the meeting time for dicussing the 1947-48 budget, and Mayor Thomas S. Post requested department heads to submit requests to City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson as soon as possible.

The council voted to pay Clifton Van Roby, a member of the Recreation Board, $9.19 as expenses in connection with preliminary work concerning the employment of Charles L. Taylor as recreation director. The latter resigned.

Mayor Post reported Fire Chief Reid C. Hoenicka is objecting to the changes in City Hall Plaza to provide more parking space for cars of city workers. The mayor said Hoenicka wants Liberty Street widened so that fire trucks will be better able to make turns into Bedford Street.

Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, said street space will be the same under the new plan as before and suggested if cars are parked in proper places there will be no difficulty. No action was taken by the council.

Commissioner William V. Keegan reported he would like permission to purchase a second new cruiser car for the Police Department. He said two old cars have been sold and replaced with one new car. An order to ask for bids will be presented Monday.

The semi-monthly payroll was approved.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Industry Looks at Our Town

Maybe you read how a group of industrial experts have decided that the small town is the place for industry—not big cities. Reasons they give are better housing, pleasanter living, and more opportunity for wholesome recreation.

Well, looking around our town I'd say that was about right. Most of us own our homes, and keep them looking nice; we enjoy each other's company; and our recreations are mostly simple outdoor sports, and in the evening a mellow glass of beer with pleasant company.

As Doc Walters says, that sort of life just naturally sets you up for work the next day . . . whether it's in office, mill, or field. And Doc should know. He works fourteen hours, but never misses his morning "constitutional" or his evening glass of beer with friends.

From where I sit, any industry could profit from being in a town where wholesome living, temperance, and friendship are the rule.

Bucs Farm Nagy

PITTSBURGH, May 14. (AP) — Steve Nagy, 27, left-handed pitcher obtained from Montreal, was sent by the Pittsburgh Pirates today to Indianapolis of the American Association under 24-hour option.

The move reduced the Bucco roster to 28 players in time to meet the major league deadline at midnight tonight. Earlier today the Bucs had sent Infielder Jimmy Bloodworth to the Indianapolis farm club under the same option arrangement.

COP STADIUM EVENTS—Shown going over the cross bar is Phil Ludwig, Berkeley Springs High School's classy pole vaulter, who won first place in the event yesterday in a triangular meet with Fort Hill and Romney at the local stadium. He went over the top at 9 feet, 6 inches. He was the only Berkeley Springs athlete to win an event. Ludwig won the pole vault in the sectional meet at Martinsburg, W. Va., last week and will vie in the West Virginia state meet to be held Saturday at Charleston. On the right is Richard Bucy, Fort Hill distance runner, who copped the 880 yards run yesterday. Bucy also won the half mile event in a meet with Allegany and Bruce High here last Saturday.

Beall And Fort Hill To Meet Here Today

Beall High School and Fort Hill High School, leading contenders for the Tri-County Conference baseball championship will clash today at 4 p. m. on the Fort Hill diamond.

Fort Hill is tied with LaSalle for first place, each team having won five games and lost one. Beall is right behind with two wins and one loss, having been halted by rain on several occasions this season.

Larry Hansrote is slated to pitch for Fort Hill and Bobby "Coco" Blair will be on the firing line for Beall.

Fort Hill's lone defeat in ten starts this season was at the hands of Beall. The score was 6-2. Stowell was returned the winner over Hansrote in that game.

In another game billed for today, Allegany meets Keyser High in Keyser at 4 p. m.

Kuhns To Judge At Field Trial

The Allegany Beagle Club will hold the second in its series of five field trials for the club championship on the club grounds Sunday, May 18. The third and fourth trials of the series are tentatively scheduled for August 3 and August 17, while the fifth, or winner's stake, for which only hounds placing in the first four trials will be eligible, will be held in December. The club's schedule for the year also calls for an AKC sanctioned trial in October.

Drawings for Sunday's trial will be held at the Cumberland Stockyards at 8 a. m., E.D.T., for both thirteen and fifteen inch classes. The fifteen inch class will run first, followed immediately on completion of this class by the thirteen inch hounds. Both classes will be run in all age combined groups.

Dr. H. C. Diehl, chairman of the club's field trial committee, has announced that he has secured the services of Charles Kuhns of Fayette City, Pa., to judge Sunday's trial. Kuhns is one of the most popular and best known judges of beagle field trials in the east and is approved by The American Kennel Club. In recent years, he has judged some of the most important and outstanding events in beagling and the local club is very fortunate to secure his services.

The first trial of this series, which was won by hounds owned by Dr. Diehl and Simeon Green, was held on April 27 and produced some of the finest runs ever seen on the local grounds and this performance is expected to be duplicated next Sunday.

PITTSBURGH, May 14. (AP) — Steve Nagy, 27, left-handed pitcher obtained from Montreal, was sent by the Pittsburgh Pirates today to Indianapolis of the American Association under 24-hour option.

The move reduced the Bucco roster to 28 players in time to meet the major league deadline at midnight tonight. Earlier today the Bucs had sent Infielder Jimmy Bloodworth to the Indianapolis farm club under the same option arrangement.

COP STADIUM EVENTS—Shown going over the cross bar is Phil Ludwig, Berkeley Springs High School's classy pole vaulter, who won first place in the event yesterday in a triangular meet with Fort Hill and Romney at the local stadium. He went over the top at 9 feet, 6 inches. He was the only Berkeley Springs athlete to win an event. Ludwig won the pole vault in the sectional meet at Martinsburg, W. Va., last week and will vie in the West Virginia state meet to be held Saturday at Charleston. On the right is Richard Bucy, Fort Hill distance runner, who copped the 880 yards run yesterday. Bucy also won the half mile event in a meet with Allegany and Bruce High here last Saturday.

Beall And Fort Hill To Meet Here Today

Beall High School and Fort Hill High School, leading contenders for the Tri-County Conference baseball championship will clash today at 4 p. m. on the Fort Hill diamond.

Fort Hill is tied with LaSalle for first place, each team having won five games and lost one. Beall is right behind with two wins and one loss, having been halted by rain on several occasions this season.

Larry Hansrote is slated to pitch for Fort Hill and Bobby "Coco" Blair will be on the firing line for Beall.

Fort Hill's lone defeat in ten starts this season was at the hands of Beall. The score was 6-2. Stowell was returned the winner over Hansrote in that game.

In another game billed for today, Allegany meets Keyser High in Keyser at 4 p. m.

Kuhns To Judge At Field Trial

The Allegany Beagle Club will hold the second in its series of five field trials for the club championship on the club grounds Sunday, May 18. The third and fourth trials of the series are tentatively scheduled for August 3 and August 17, while the fifth, or winner's stake, for which only hounds placing in the first four trials will be eligible, will be held in December. The club's schedule for the year also calls for an AKC sanctioned trial in October.

Drawings for Sunday's trial will be held at the Cumberland Stockyards at 8 a. m., E.D.T., for both thirteen and fifteen inch classes. The fifteen inch class will run first, followed immediately on completion of this class by the thirteen inch hounds. Both classes will be run in all age combined groups.

Dr. H. C. Diehl, chairman of the club's field trial committee, has announced that he has secured the services of Charles Kuhns of Fayette City, Pa., to judge Sunday's trial. Kuhns is one of the most popular and best known judges of beagle field trials in the east and is approved by The American Kennel Club. In recent years, he has judged some of the most important and outstanding events in beagling and the local club is very fortunate to secure his services.

The first trial of this series, which was won by hounds owned by Dr. Diehl and Simeon Green, was held on April 27 and produced some of the finest runs ever seen on the local grounds and this performance is expected to be duplicated next Sunday.

R. Sisk, who pitched a no-hit game Tuesday, was clouted for nine hits by the winners. "Chick" Snider with a double and a single and Len Stouffer with two singles led the "A" team's attack. Wiebrecht made the only two hits the "C" aggregation could get off A. Weltman.

Oakley Quits League Of Maryland Sportsmen

BALTIMORE, May 14—(AP)—Columbus K. Oakley, an associate director, resigned last night from the League of Maryland sportsmen because he claimed it is an organization of 7,500 sportsmen "run by a board of governors dominated by one man."

Glenn L. Martin has been president since the league was organized in 1943.

Oakley announced his resignation at a meeting of the Maryland State Game and Protective Association, one of more than 70 hunting, fishing and conservation clubs making up the league.

Oakley released a letter from Martin informing him the league could no longer afford his expenses as an associate director.

Game Is Postponed

The K. of C. Cumberland Outdoor Club game in the Rocking Chair Softball League, originally scheduled for today, has been postponed by mutual agreement, Jim Browning, Caseys' manager, announced last night.

Oakley Quits League Of Maryland Sportsmen

BALTIMORE, May 14—(AP)—Columbus K. Oakley, an associate director, resigned last night from the League of Maryland sportsmen because he claimed it is an organization of 7,500 sportsmen "run by a board of governors dominated by one man."

Glenn L. Martin has been president since the league was organized in 1943.

Oakley announced his resignation at a meeting of the Maryland State Game and Protective Association, one of more than 70 hunting, fishing and conservation clubs making up the league.

Oakley released a letter from Martin informing him the league could no longer afford his expenses as an associate director.

Game Is Postponed

The K. of C. Cumberland Outdoor Club game in the Rocking Chair Softball League, originally scheduled for today, has been postponed by mutual agreement, Jim Browning, Caseys' manager, announced last night.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

The other night a bunch of us clustered around a television set. The circus was on. The camera came to a close-up of a man walking the high-wire. Pretty exciting stuff. A playwright spoke up. "When they start selling these contraptions for a hundred bucks, you can kiss show business goodbye."

Billy Rose

I disagree.

I'm not underestimating television's potential popularity. It probably will change our merchandising, electioneering and propaganda techniques, but I don't think it's going to change human nature.

Cathode ray tubes notwithstanding, every so often momma and poppa are going to get tired of looking at that parlor settee with the busted spring. They're going to want to put on their number-one clothes and step out. Every so often they're going to hanker for the electricity crowds communicate to each other through their elbows.

What will show business be like when television grabs the country by the eyes? Here are a few off-the-cuff guesses:

THE LEGIT THEATRE: About what it is today. I don't think anything is going to knock off this 2000-year-old darling. Silents, talkies, radio, bowling, dust storms and plagues—the legit will still be the Rembrandt of the entertainment business. Besides, even Coca-Cola won't be able to afford a coast-to-coast showing of a Broadway hit. A sock show can make a million, and the gent who owns it isn't going to let the whole country see it for any ten grand.

SPORTS: The fellows who mastermind prizefights, football games, hockey, baseball and the like have nothing to worry about. Anytime television cuts into receipts they can chase the cameras off the lot. Or else make them pay for the people who stay home.

MOVIES: An hour of good celluloid costs about a million dollars to produce. It often grosses two million or better. What sponsor can give that away for free every week? Megacycles, schmegacycles — the clerk who lives in a hall bedroom will still blow in his six bits for a couple of hours at Loew's Fabulous, where ushers call him "Sir" and the architecture is late Arabian Nights.

RADIO: A lot of daytime radio, as we know it now, will still be in business. In millions of homes, the radio plays all day long. People only half listen. The programs are absorbed by osmosis—they seep in. Television costs several times as much as straight radio. I doubt whether many sponsors will spend that kind of money for daytime showings. They know that from 9 to 5, Mr. and Mrs. America have their noses too close to the grindstone to look up at pretty pictures.

But in the evening, when peak audiences are available, the rubber bands will come off the bankrolls. Visual advertising will move certain types of merchandise like nothing the world has ever seen. Something new in shoes may sweep the country in a week. I tremble to think how much eyewash, mouthwash and hogwash the hucksters will sell. The cigarette boys will do everything but blow smoke up your nostrils. And who's going to turn off a lingerie ad with living models? The lads who dream up the sale spiels will reach new heights—and descend to new lows. As for instance, singing AND dancing commercials.

PERFORMERS: I think most of the Hooper-happy stars will still be with us. The Bob Hopes, Bing Crosbys, Walter Winchells, Fannie Brices can only be better when their faces get into the act. And some of Broadway's old faces may become Main Street's new faces. Watch out for Bobby Clark! Ditto Bert Lahr, Ethel Merman, Gertrude Lawrence, Willie Howard, Maurice Chevalier. I wouldn't be surprised if television proved the thing that brought back vaudeville. The microphone clutchers who don't know what to do with their eyes and hands had better get a little training. I know several $2000-a-week radio stars who would be smart if they spent a couple of seasons in summer stock at $40 a week.

To sum up, I'm not selling my theatre just yet. Nor my night club. I'm not worried about television coming up with a Shakespeare or an O'Neill, an "Oklahoma!" or "Annie Get Your Gun." I don't think any wire-and-glass dingbat is going to oontz out cheek-to-cheek dancing. The miss with the new dress isn't going to be satisfied with a parade around the parlor. Wearing it isn't as important to her as showing it.

If the Marys you know are anything like the Marys I know, they're going to continue wanting to put a little red paint on the town before they let you take any off their lips. And when it comes to getting Baby ready to go home, Johnny knows electronics is no substitute for Scotch-and-soda.

No, I don't think show business has anything to worry about.

Politics? That's something else again. In a country where 60 per cent of the voters are gals, good-looking candidates will have to be reckoned with. It might not be a bad idea for Senator Taft to ask Edgar Bergen where he gets those toupees.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Labor On The Air

Labor is getting mighty active on the air these days. The American Federation of Labor has set aside $300,000 for a radio campaign—part of a much larger campaign—against labor bills in Congress. The United Electrical and Machine workers Union is sponsoring Leland Stowe (Mutual 7:30 p. m. EDT Wednesdays) in what the union calls "unbiased reporting of the news." The International Ladies Garment Workers Union has just bought $250,000 worth of frequency modulation transmitters and will erect FM stations in Chattanooga, St. Louis, Los Angeles, New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

John Crosby

The A. F. of L. programs, which are presented by the Entertainment Unions Committee, attempt to sell ideas in much the same way Proctor and Gamble sells soap. Much of it is painfully bad and, even if it weren't, I doubt that ideas can be sold like soap. One of these programs is a series of little labor operas (ABC 3:45 p. m. EDT Mondays through Fridays) called "The Pursuit of Happiness," in the first of which Fredric March and Florence Eldredge were starred.

To summarize the story briefly, Frank Sheffield is foreman of a plant which is run by an arrogant young whipper-snapper named Froman who won't give the hands a raise and in general, is a pretty tough cookie. Meanwhile, the real boss of the plant, a benevolent old man who knows all the men in the shop and dandles their young on his knee, is home sick and is carefully shielded from the facts. Well, Frank gets fired and by the third episode things look pretty black. Then the old man comes back to the plant and raises the roof. Young Froman gets his come-uppance and Frank is re-hired and promoted.

That's hardly an adequate summation of the four programs but it's all I have space for. It's hard to understand "The Pursuit of Happiness" either as drama or as propaganda. The idea that labor's gains, or its general welfare, are in any way dependent on benevolent employers used to be anathema to all unions. If the A. F. of L. is trying to sell an idea, why that idea? The drama was larded heavily with commercials which endeavored to prove that the labor bills in Congress would drive prices still higher. Now, there are plenty of things the matter with the omnibus labor bill in Congress but its connection with raising prices is pretty nebulous.

The most ambitious of the Entertainment Union Committee's programs is a half-hour evening program (ABC 9:30 p. m. EDT Thursdays) and a pretty good show it is. The first one presented Henry Morgan, Milton Berle, the De Marco Sisters and Georgia Gibbs and an all-star lineup is pretty well assured for the future ones.

Let's skip the pure entertainment, which was good, and get to the meat of this program which was a skit written by Arthur Miller, author of "All My Sons," the Drama Critics Circle prize play of the year. This dealt with an employee whose boss gradually made him use both hands, both feet and his breathing apparatus in order to get as much work as possible from him. The union ended this speed-up but, the listener was told, if the labor bill was passed the speed-up would return.

It was a very clever little skit but it left me just as uncomfortable as those undigestable lumps of quite different propaganda once emitted by William J. Cameron on the Ford Sunday Evening Hour. I resent propaganda of this sort, entirely apart from the ideas, as an insult to my intelligence and I think a lot of other people do too.

Let's compare the A. F. of L. programs with a condensation of a commentary by Raymond Swing on the same subject: "The Hartley bill cracks down on American labor more severely than any measure passed in modern history. It virtually puts an end to the union shop. It outlaws the closed shop altogether. It outlaws industry-wide bargaining. And that phrase "sympathetic to communism" is about as wide open as a barn door and under it almost anyone distasteful to management might be cited in the hope of preventing collective bargaining. These are the chief punitive measures of the bill, which it can be seen would weaken collective bargaining as to set back the labor movement by half a century."

That sounds like an honest opinion and because it's honest it's convincing and because it's convincing it helped mobilize public opinion against the Hartley bill far more than any amount of straight propaganda.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, May 14.—When Ray Milland returns from England in early August, he will be given a script to read, based on the life of King Ludwig of Bavaria, who reigned during the 19th century and was Wagner's closest friend and patron. It's a honey of an idea with all the Wagner music as a background. Aneas MacKenzie is preparing the musical score and Bob Fellows the production.

Hedy Lamarr

Henry Ginsberg, Paramount's production chief, has the story ready. It deals with Ludwig's romance with an American girl, which created as much excitement at that time as King Edward and Wally Simpson did a few years ago.

Ludwig had a cloud of insanity hanging over his head during part of his reign, but even so, he contributed greatly to the arts and was famous for being the first to recognize Wagner's genius in 1864.

It would be the irony of fate if Peter Shaw has to return to his native England to make his first Hollywood hit. He has been waiting so long here for an opportunity in movies.

What I mean is that Hal Wallis, who is in London now readying "House of Mist", wants Shaw for a top romantic role.

I'm aware you are more familiar with this young Irish actor as a "gossip column" escort of Lana Turner's (pre-Tyrone Power) and Joan Crawford's (pre-Greg Bautzer) but he has a fine war record—one of the young officers with Montgomery's famed 7th Armored division.

Just before he left England, Shaw and his wife were divorced.

Chatter in Hollywood: I've just had a note from John Loder from Detroit, where he opened in "Laura", and let me say his notices were fine.

John is greatly worried about Hedy Lemarr. He has been trying to get her to join him.

Probably Hedy doesn't feel well, as she says, but I do think she should get out of the doldrums, pull herself together, buy herself some new clothes and go east and join John. This is his big chance. He's had a hard time getting going and he's very worried about her.

There isn't anything the matter with Hedy that a change of viewpoint won't help. She's too beautiful, too young and too successful to get in the frame of mind of a chronic invalid.

The German girl, Gisela Vandeneschen, arrived in Hollywood late today. She was given permission by the State Department to come to Hollywood to marry Peter Salm. But hold on—this Peter Salm is not the millionaire son of the former Millicent Rogers. He's an emplove in a West LosAngeles book store.

Peter met Geisa when he was in Germany serving as a counter-intelligence officer. His real name is Peter Salm and he never had any intention ofj posing as the Standard Oil heir.

He was relieved when Gisela told him she knew the newspaper publicity was all a mistake, but she has had so much publicity that now MGM has offered to make a test of her.

Hollywood has put down the red carpet for the Variety Club for their convention this week, and rightly so.

The 7000 members of this club belong to the motion picture theatre owners and others in the theatrical world. The work they do in providing for underprivileged children, and finding suitable homes for abandoned babies is well known. More than any other organization they have combated juvenile delinquency and helped to make this a right world for children.

We welcome these 7000 members of the Variety Club and are glad to have them with us.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: An old friend and a good friend of the industry, Richard Rowland, head of the old Metro film company, passed away Monday morning in New York.

Charlie Barnett, the orchestra leader, and his wife, Rita Merritt, were remarried Sunday at Los Vegas. Over the telephone Martha Raye told me that they had their marriage Americanized. They were married in Mexico eight months ago. Martha was matron of honor at both weddings.

Mrs. Tom Tully, wife of the well known actor, is in Santa Monica hospital in a serious condition, the result of an automobile accident.

Jennifer Jones used Anita Colby's tickets to fly to Bermuda for the weekend. "Portrait of Jenny" is held up again until Paul Osborne (Vinegar Tree) can do a rewrite job.

Keenan Wynn has been paged to take the Phil Baker show while Phil enjoys a vacation in California.

Stuart Barthelmess is csoisoling himself over Sonja Heinie's absence with Ruth Brady. It's been an every evening date.

Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon plane out of here Friday night for Chicago. They are the guests of honor at the Hearst "I Am An American" Day. Their work in the war was outstanding and they still get more letters from soldiers than any other two people in the movies.

The young son of the Edward G. Robinsons, 19-year-old Manny, is making his stage debut with young Charlie and Sidney Chaplin in "Time Of Your Life" at the Circle Theater.

Jack Mulcahy, who has lined up a big Brazilian deal, leaves June 1, to talk to the head men.

Sid Luft, Lynn Bari's husband, home from the hospital. He fell over a rope and injured his leg so badly it was necessary to operate.

Dorothy Lamour gets home tomorrow after spending a month in Baltimore with her in-laws and in New York.

Georgia Carroll Kyser and her young daughter, Kimberly Kyser, stole the show at the Carousel Party to raise funds for St. John's Hospital. They were dressed exactly alike in mother and daughter clothes.

Joan Caulfield and Charlie Feldman the newest twosome in town at Chanteclair.

Niven Busch was offered $10,000 by a national publication to tell what he thinks David Selznick did to his book, "Duel In The Sun." P S.—He's turned it down.

Janis Paige is doing all the talking in her romance with Michael North. He's had a tonsilectomy and his doctor told him to utter nary a word. That's all today.

The cigarette boys will do everything but blow smoke up your nostrils. And who's going to turn off a lingerie ad with living models? The lads who dream up the sale spiels will reach new heights—and descend to new lows. As for instance, singing AND dancing commercials.

PERFORMERS: I think most of the Hooper-happy stars will still be with us. The Bob Hopes, Bing Crosbys, Walter Winchells, Fannie Brices can only be better when their faces get into the act. And some of Broadway's old faces may become Main Street's new faces. Watch out for Bobby Clark! Ditto Bert Lahr, Ethel Merman, Gertrude Lawrence, Willie Howard, Maurice Chevalier. I wouldn't be surprised if television proved the thing that brought back vaudeville. The microphone clutchers who don't know what to do with their eyes and hands had better get a little training. I know several $2000-a-week radio stars who would be smart if they spent a couple of seasons in summer stock at $40 a week.

To sum up, I'm not selling my theatre just yet. Nor my night club. I'm not worried about television coming up with a Shakespeare or an O'Neill, an "Oklahoma!" or "Annie Get Your Gun." I don't think any wire-and-glass dingbat is going to oontz out cheek-to-cheek dancing. The miss with the new dress isn't going to be satisfied with a parade around the parlor. Wearing it isn't as important to her as showing it.

If the Marys you know are anything like the Marys I know, they're going to continue wanting to put a little red paint on the town before they let you take any off their lips. And when it comes to getting Baby ready to go home, Johnny knows electronics is no substitute for Scotch-and-soda.

No, I don't think show business has anything to worry about.

Politics? That's something else again. In a country where 60 per cent of the voters are gals, good-looking candidates will have to be reckoned with. It might not be a bad idea for Senator Taft to ask Edgar Bergen where he gets those toupees.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Labor On The Air

Labor is getting mighty active on the air these days. The American Federation of Labor has set aside $300,000 for a radio campaign—part of a much larger campaign—against labor bills in Congress. The United Electrical and Machine workers Union is sponsoring Leland Stowe (Mutual 7:30 p. m. EDT Wednesdays) in what the union calls "unbiased reporting of the news." The International Ladies Garment Workers Union has just bought $250,000 worth of frequency modulation transmitters and will erect FM stations in Chattanooga, St. Louis, Los Angeles, New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

John Crosby

The A. F. of L. programs, which are presented by the Entertainment Unions Committee, attempt to sell ideas in much the same way Proctor and Gamble sells soap. Much of it is painfully bad and, even if it weren't, I doubt that ideas can be sold like soap. One of these programs is a series of little labor operas (ABC 3:45 p. m. EDT Mondays through Fridays) called "The Pursuit of Happiness," in the first of which Fredric March and Florence Eldredge were starred.

To summarize the story briefly, Frank Sheffield is foreman of a plant which is run by an arrogant young whipper-snapper named Froman who won't give the hands a raise and in general, is a pretty tough cookie. Meanwhile, the real boss of the plant, a benevolent old man who knows all the men in the shop and dandles their young on his knee, is home sick and is carefully shielded from the facts. Well, Frank gets fired and by the third episode things look pretty black. Then the old man comes back to the plant and raises the roof. Young Froman gets his come-uppance and Frank is re-hired and promoted.

That's hardly an adequate summation of the four programs but it's all I have space for. It's hard to understand "The Pursuit of Happiness" either as drama or as propaganda. The idea that labor's gains, or its general welfare, are in any way dependent on benevolent employers used to be anathema to all unions. If the A. F. of L. is trying to sell an idea, why that idea? The drama was larded heavily with commercials which endeavored to prove that the labor bills in Congress would drive prices still higher. Now, there are plenty of things the matter with the omnibus labor bill in Congress but its connection with raising prices is pretty nebulous.

The most ambitious of the Entertainment Union Committee's programs is a half-hour evening program (ABC 9:30 p. m. EDT Thursdays) and a pretty good show it is. The first one presented Henry Morgan, Milton Berle, the De Marco Sisters and Georgia Gibbs and an all-star lineup is pretty well assured for the future ones.

Let's skip the pure entertainment, which was good, and get to the meat of this program which was a skit written by Arthur Miller, author of "All My Sons," the Drama Critics Circle prize play of the year. This dealt with an employee whose boss gradually made him use both hands, both feet and his breathing apparatus in order to get as much work as possible from him. The union ended this speed-up but, the listener was told, if the labor bill was passed the speed-up would return.

It was a very clever little skit but it left me just as uncomfortable as those undigestable lumps of quite different propaganda once emitted by William J. Cameron on the Ford Sunday Evening Hour. I resent propaganda of this sort, entirely apart from the ideas, as an insult to my intelligence and I think a lot of other people do too.

Let's compare the A. F. of L. programs with a condensation of a commentary by Raymond Swing on the same subject: "The Hartley bill cracks down on American labor more severely than any measure passed in modern history. It virtually puts an end to the union shop. It outlaws the closed shop altogether. It outlaws industry-wide bargaining. And that phrase "sympathetic to communism" is about as wide open as a barn door and under it almost anyone distasteful to management might be cited in the hope of preventing collective bargaining. These are the chief punitive measures of the bill, which it can be seen would weaken collective bargaining as to set back the labor movement by half a century."

That sounds like an honest opinion and because it's honest its convincing and because it's convincing it helped mobilize public opinion against the Hartley bill far more than any amount of straight propaganda.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, May 14.—When Ray Milland returns from England in early August, he will be given a script to read, based on the life of King Ludwig of Bavaria, who reigned during the 19th century and was Wagner's closest friend and patron. It's a honey of an idea with all the Wagner music as a background. Aneas MacKenzie is preparing the musical score and Bob Fellows the production.

Hedy Lamarr

Henry Ginsberg, Paramount's production chief, has the story ready. It deals with Ludwig's romance with an American girl, which created as much exvitement at that time as King Edward and Wally Simpson did a few years ago.

Ludwig had a cloud of insanity hanging over his head during part of his reign, but even so, he contributed greatly to the arts and was famous for being the first to recognize Wagner's genius in 1864.

It would be the irony of fate if Peter Shaw has to return to his native England to make his first Hollywood hit. He has been waiting so long here for an opportunity in movies.

What I mean is that Hal Wallis, who is in London now readying "House of Mist", wants Shaw for a top romantic role.

I'm aware you are more familiar with this young Irish actor as a "gossip column" escort of Lana Turner's (pre-Tyrone Power) and Joan Crawford's (pre-Greg Bautzer) but he has a fine war record—one of the young officers with Montgomery's famed 7th Armored division.

Just before he left England, Shaw and his wife were divorced.

Chatter in Hollywood: I've just had a note from John Loder from Detroit, where he opened in "Laura", and let me say his notices were fine.

John is greatly worried about Hedy Lemarr. He has been trying to get her to join him.

Probably Hedy doesn't feel well, as she says, but I do think she should get out of the doldrums, pull herself together, buy herself some new clothes and go east and join John. This is his big chance. He's had a hard time getting going and he's very worried about her.

There isn't anything the matter with Hedy that a change of viewpoint won't help. She's too beautiful, too young and too successful to get in the frame of mind of a chronic invalid.

The German girl, Gisela Vandeneschen, arrived in Hollywood late today. She was given permission by the State Department to come to Hollywood to marry Peter Salm. But hold on—this Peter Salm is not the millionaire son of the former Millicent Rogers. He's an emplove in a West LosAngeles book store.

Peter met Geisa when he was in Germany serving as a counter-intelligence officer. His real name is Peter Salm and he never had any intention ofj posing as the Standard Oil heir.

He was relieved when Gisela told him she knew the newspaper publicity was all a mistake, but she has had so much publicity that now MGM has offered to make a test of her.

Hollywood has put down the red carpet for the Variety Club for their convention this week, and rightly so.

The 7000 members of this club belong to the motion picture theatre owners and others in the theatrical world. The work they do in providing for underprivileged children, and finding suitable homes for abandoned babies is well known. More than any other organization they have combated juvenile delinquency and helped to make this a right world for children.

We welcome these 7000 members of the Variety Club and are glad to have them with us.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: An old friend and a good friend of the industry, Richard Rowland, head of the old Metro film company, passed away Monday morning in New York.

Charlie Barnett, the orchestra leader, and his wife, Rita Merritt, were remarried Sunday at Los Vegas. Over the telephone Martha Raye told me that they had their marriage Americanized. They were married in Mexico eight months ago. Martha was matron of honor at both weddings.

Mrs. Tom Tully, wife of the well known actor, is in Santa Monica hospital in a serious condition, the result of an automobile accident.

Jennifer Jones used Anita Colby's tickets to fly to Bermuda for the weekend. "Portrait of Jenny" is held up again until Paul Osborne (Vinegar Tree) can do a rewrite job.

Keenan Wynn has been paged to take the Phil Baker show while Phil enjoys a vacation in California.

Stuart Barthelmess is csoisoling himself over Sonja Heinie's absence with Ruth Brady. It's been an every evening date.

Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon plane out of here Friday night for Chicago. They are the guests of honor at the Hearst "I Am An American" Day. Their work in the war was outstanding and they still get more letters from soldiers than any other two people in the movies.

The young son of the Edward G. Robinsons, 19-year-old Manny, is making his stage debut with young Charlie and Sidney Chaplin in "Time Of Your Life" at the Circle Theater.

Jack Mulcahy, who has lined up a big Brazilian deal, leaves June 1, to talk to the head men.

Sid Luft, Lynn Bari's husband, home from the hospital. He fell over a rope and injured his leg so badly it was necessary to operate.

Dorothy Lamour gets home tomorrow after spending a month in Baltimore with her in-laws and in New York.

Georgia Carroll Kyser and her young daughter, Kimberly Kyser, stole the show at the Carousel Party to raise funds for St. John's Hospital. They were dressed exactly alike in mother and daughter clothes.

Joan Caulfield and Charlie Feldman the newest twosome in town at Chanteclair.

Niven Busch was offered $10,000 by a national publication to tell what he thinks David Selznick did to his book, "Duel In The Sun." P S.—He's turned it down.

Janis Paige is doing all the talking in her romance with Michael North He's had a tonsilectomy and his doctor told him to utter nary a word That's all today.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my son, Lester Kenney, who passed away one year ago, May 15, 1946.

One year ago today
My loving son passed away.
If I could have one gift from God,
My son, I would ask for you
To live again those happy hours
I used to spend with you.
'Tis very lonesome here without you,
And sad the weary way,
For life is not the same to me
Since God called my son away.

Sadly missed by his Mother and Grandparents BEUHLAH KENNEY, and MR. & MRS. JOHN E. WILBURN.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors who were so kind and generous to us in our bereavement, the death of our wife and mother, Mrs. Henry M. Brown. We especially thank those who donated the use of their cars and sent floral tributes. We also with to thank Rev. Greynolds for officiating and Rev. Michaels for his visits.

MR. HENRY M. BROWN and FAMILY.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my son, Lester Kenney, who passed away one year ago, May 15, 1946.

One year ago today
My loving son passed away.
If I could have one gift from God,
My son, I would ask for you
To live again those happy hours
I used to spend with you.
'Tis very lonesome here without you,
And sad the weary way,
For life is not the same to me
Since God called my son away.

Sadly missed by his Mother and Grandparents, BEUHLAH KENNEY, and MR. & MRS. JOHN E. WILBURN.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors who were so kind and generous to us in our bereavement, the death of our wife and mother, Mrs. Henry M. Brown. We especially thank those who donated the use of their cars and sent floral tributes. We also with to thank Rev. Greynolds for officiating and Rev. Michaels for his visits.

MR. HENRY M. BROWN and FAMILY.

Comeback Attempts Fail In Market As New Lows For Year Established

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP) — Pessimism maintained its hold in Wall Street today to beat back occasional comeback attempts in the stock market. New lows for the year or longer were established.

Transfers totaled 1,050,000 shares compared with 1,210,000 Tuesday.

After touching lows for the year, Baltimore and Ohio closed at 9, New York Cenetral at 13⅛, Pennsylvania Railroad at 18⅜, Schenley at 25¾, Pfizer at 38½ and Packard at 5⅝. Other losers included National Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Goodyear, Goodrich, American Telephone, Union Pacific, Southern Railway, Skelly Oil, Coca-Cola, United Fruit, Corn Products, Liggett and Myers, Johns-Manville, Dow Chemical and Ruberoid.

Good income reports aided International Paper at 41⅝ and Hudson Motor at 14¾. Also turning to the upside were Bethlehem at 80¼, General Motors at 54½, Chrysler at 97, Westinghouse Electric at 23½, Union Carbide, United Air Lines, Chesapeake and Ohio, American Woolen Phelps Dodge, Boeing Aircraft and American Water Works.

Slipping in the Curb were Aluminum Company, Crosley Motors, Hecla Mining, United Light, Winnipeg Electric and Niagara Hudson Power. Turnover of 300,000 shares here compared with 330,000 yesterday.

The rail section stayed on the down grade with losses running to two points and more in the bond market.

Volume slackened to $3,510,000 from the preceding day's $5,020,000.

United States governments in the over-the-counter market tended downward. The victory loan 2½s of December 1967-72 closed down 3-32 of a point at 103 9-32 bid.

Oscar Cosner Acquitted Of Wife-Slaying Charge

Jury Finds Mail-Carrier Insane At Time His Wife Was Beaten To Death

Spectators Applaud As Verdict Is Read

Oscar Cosner, 36-year-old Keyser, W. Va., letter carrier, was released from Mineral County jail late yesterday afternoon, after being acquitted by the jury, of a charge of murdering his wife, Hazel E. (Alt) Cosner, 31, mother of three children, on September 3, 1946, at their South Water Street residence, following a heated quarrel.

The jury, which started deliberations at 3:30 p. m. EST, Tuesday, returned its verdict yesterday about 3:45 p. m., EST, with Norwood Borror, Ridgeley, W. Va., foreman handing the acquittal verdict, to Paul W. Dayton, clerk of circuit court.

Before a crowded, but stilled Court room, Dayton read: "we, the jury, find for the defendant, Oscar Cosner, not guilty because he was insane at the time he killed Hazel E. (Alt) Cosner."

Spectators Applaud

The verdict was greeted by a round of applause by spectators, many of whom had listened to the case from its beginning, saw the state make every effort to convict Cosner, watched carefully and critically, every move made by the defense and listened attentively to each ruling of the Court.

As the verdict was read, Prosecutor Vernon E. Rankin asked presiding Judge Ernest A. See to have the jury polled. This was done and each in turn confirmed the verdict. Rankin then moved that the Court hold Cosner, so he could be examined for possible commitment to a mental institution, but Judge See ordered Sheriff James A. Dixon to release the defendant, as he had not been judged insane, except at the time of the tragedy, the court said.

Cosner, who had been nervous throughout much of the hearing, and who broke down and wept bitterly while recounting events leading up to the tragedy when he testified in his own defense, seemed to be the calmest person in the Court room as the jury announced it had reached a verdict. Cosner's attorneys, H. P. Shores and Emory Tyler, appeared a little nervous, and Rankin also seemed to be waiting expectantly. H. G. Shores, chief defense counsel, and Herndon R. Athey, retained by the Alt family to assist Rankin in the prosecution, were not in the Court room, when the jury returned its verdict.

Cosner Thanks Jury

After a verdict was read, and the Court ruled Cosner should be released, the letter - carrier shook hands with each member of the jury and thanked them. He was greeted warmly by many spectators, friends and acquaintances in the court room and numerous Court attaches congratulated him and his attorneys.

Cosner was taken to the home of one of his defense attorneys, Howard P. Shores to spend the night, and plans to return to his home on South Water Street in the next day or two. His three sons, Vance, 9; Vince, 8, and Teddy, 3, are still at the Star of Hope Orphanage, Burlington, W. Va., where they have been since the tragedy, but Cosner expects to return them to Keyser soon and re-establish a home for them.

The postmaster at Keyser, Thomas Ward, who has befriended Cosner all during his trial, was in court during much of the time. He indicated earlier that if Cosner should be acquitted, there would be no doubt about his re-instatement on his job as a postal clerk and letter carrier. Ward said, "I have always found Cosner extremely loyal, diligent and conscientious. He is the kind of fellow who would

Death Of Boy, 9, Held Unavoidable

A coroner's jury at Somerset, Pa., ruled yesterday that the death of George Stanley Swindell, 9, near Somerset, last Saturday, caused when he was shot by a neighbor, ex-serviceman who was firing at sparrows, was an unavoidable accident, Dr. A. M. Uphouse, coroner, said last night.

District Attorney Thomas F. Lansberry said a further investigation is being made by his office.

The inquest was held at the Somerset County Court House yesterday afternoon and Dr. Uphouse said evidence showed the child was shot when he ran in the line of fire of Edward Francis Firle, 19, who was shooting across a public highway at sparrows, and died almost instantly.

Firle "had no business shooting across the highway," Dr. Uphouse said, but he added that the decision of the coroner's jury is final so far as he is concerned.

A funeral service for the child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Swindell, was held Tuesday.

Meat Cutters Union Seeks New Contract

Mike Roth, Chicago, international Meat Cutters Union representative, said Local 332, Meat Cutters Union, AFL, and the Swift and Company branch here are "not far apart" in negotiations on a new contract.

Members of the union met last night to hear a report on negotiations on the contract which expires today. The plant employs about 40 men, the union said.

Veteran Accused Of Threatening Wife Is Jailed

Police Take .45 Pistol From Ohioan

A Mansfield, Ohio, World War II veteran who police said came to Cumberland to "get" his estranged wife, an employe in a local laundry, was being held in the City Jail last night for questioning in the office of the State's Attorney. A .45 caliber pistol taken from him was being held by authorities.

Police said they received a call from the ex-wife of the veteran, booked as Ambrose Myers, yesterday morning, and that she told them she understood her husband was in town and was "after" her.

Later in the morning, Myers went to the office of the Maryland State Employment Service where he called on C. William Spangler, field representative of the Veterans' Employment Service, who had assisted him on several previous occasions.

Myers was intoxicated and told him he was going to see his ex-wife, Spangler said, adding that he advised the man to go home and get some rest before he got into trouble.

At that point, Myers pulled out the pistol and told Spangler, he said, that he was "not going to get into any trouble while I have this."

Spangler added that he notified police in order to keep Myers out of trouble and that officers took him into custody at Queen City Hotel.

Police said that when Myers was arrested the pistol was not loaded and that bullets he was carrying would not fit the weapon.

Myers bought the pistol Tuesday in Ohio, according to police, who said the man told them he did not threaten his wife, from whom he has been separated for sometime.

Police said he told them he came to this section to visit his 10-year-old daughter who lives in the vicinity of Elkins, W. Va. He said he had not been in any previous trouble.

Celanese Local Makes Report On Contract Talks

Following a report of the progress of contract negotiations with the Celanese Corporation of America, officers of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, reported last night they hoped a satisfactory agreement could be reached without difficulty but that the negotiating committee had been empowered to call a strike, if necessary, to obtain an appropriate agreement.

The union committee, headed by Herbert W. Payne, New York, director of the TWUA's rayon division, will resume contract talks this morning at 10 o'clock.

In a formal statement prepared last night by the union in the presence of Herbert W. Payne, New York, rayon director of the union, the local said:

"A report was made at the general membership meeting of Local 1874 of the progress of negotiations currently going on at the Celanese plant by the committee and officials of the company.

"After discussion of the report, the local union membership empowered the committee, if it found it 'absolutely' necessary, to extend the agreement on a day to day basis beyond the termination date of May 19.

"By unanimous vote it further empowered the negotiating committee to cancel such extension and call a strike if it found it necessary to do so to obtain an appropriate agreement.

"It qualified the power of the negotiating committee by requiring that any agreement reached with the company must be submitted to the membership for approval or rejection.

"The officials of the national and local union express the hope that a satisfactory agreement will be reached without any difficulties."

Lonaconing Clerk Says Mayor Evans Hasn't Paid Town

It was revealed yesterday by Mrs. Sallie Schramm, town clerk of Lonaconing, that Mayor John H. Evans, has not yet paid the town of Lonaconing $242, he said he obtained from the Russell Coal Company, for damage done streets by their trucks.

The matter was brought to the town council's attention a week ago, the night before the town election. Evans admitted at the council meeting he had cashed the check, and promised the council "I will give Sallie Schramm a check in the morning."

The last meeting of the present council will be held Monday night, and unless the matter has been cleared, council members expect to take some action.

The new mayor and council will hold their first meeting June 2.

IS ACQUITTED—Oscar Cosner, 36, of South Water Street, Keyser, W. Va., is shown here a short time after he was acquitted by a jury of a charge of murder, involving the death of his wife Hazel E. (Alt) Cosner, last September 3. Cosner spent the night at the home of one of his attorneys, Howard P. Shores, and said he plans to get his children from the Burlington orphanage and re-establish his home. Charged with beating his wife to death with a baseball bat, as she lay in bed, Cosner said he "blacked out" during a quarrel after his wife admitted she had been unfaithful. The jury deliberated more than six hours and returned a verdict of "not guilty because he was insane at the time of the slaying." (Photo by Keyser Studio).

A. B. and O. Railroad employe working at Keyser, W. Va., was injured yesterday morning when the automobile State Police said he was driving crashed against the rear of a truck two miles south of Cresaptown on the McMullen Highway about 9 o'clock.

State Trooper George E. Coddington, who investigated, identified the man as James E. Cook, 39, Corriganville, and said he suffered a possible skull fracture, possible fractures of the ribs, lacerations of the right knee and brush burns on the forehead. The officer said he was informed X-rays probably will be taken today to determine the extent of Cook's injuries. He is a patient in Allegany Hospital.

Cook was heading north on Route 220 when he crashed against the rear of the coal truck owned and operated by James Corbin, Westernport, Coddington said, adding that Cook told him he does not know what happened. Corbin was uninjured.

Red Cross Plans Two Courses For Swim Instructors

Young men and women 19 years old or over who are interested in taking a preliminary training course to be followed by an intensive swimming instructor's course are asked to contact the Red Cross office in the Post Office Building, according to Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

To be eligible, applicants must hold Red Cross senior lifesaving certificates dated within the past three years.

Plans for expanding the "learn to swim" program for county school children were discussed at a meeting yesterday with Charles L. Kopp, county superintendent of schools; Miss Jane Botsford, junior Red Cross chairman; and James E. Kelly, Jr., water safety chairman of the Red Cross, Mrs. Witherup said.

It was agreed that the swimming program held during the winter, in which 90 sixth grade children from West Side, Johnson Heights, Columbia Street and Centre Street Schools were taught to swim, was a valuable one, and that qualified instructors should be obtained to carry on an expanded program through the summer.

The preliminary 10-hour training course will be held at the Central YMCA pool under Kelley's direction, with the schedule of instruction to be announced later.

Mrs. Witherup said that July 14 has been set as the tentative date for the beginning of the instructor's course, which will be taught by a representative from Eastern Area headquarters of the Red Cross in Alexandria, Va. The intensive 15-hour course will provide one week of training in swimming instruction. Both courses will be given free of charge.

The county "learn to swim" program was inaugurated last November at the request of the State Board of Education. Its ultimate goal is to teach every county school child how to swim, Mrs. Witherup said.

Provided sufficient trained instructors are secured through the proposed courses, it is hoped to organize swimming classes for adults this summer, she added.

Other officers named were John T. Conley, traffic manager of the Cumberland Motor Express, vice president; John L. Carnochan, re-elected secretary, and Matthew W. Grove, renamed treasurer. Those elected to the board of governors were C. Eugene Howell, Bernard V. McGreevy, Clarence E. Gehr, G. M. Gemmill, Leo H. Ley and Harry J. Biggs, Luke.

The new officers will be in charge of the June meeting which is planned as "ladies' night."

Chief speaker at last night's meeting was Arthur A. Verner, local export manager of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, who described the transportation systems of Europe and South Africa.

He said the recent war put South Africa, and particularly the Union of South Africa, on its own as far as supplies and industry were concerned, pointing out that rigid government control handicapped all forms of transport except railroads.

6 State Troopers At Barracks C Are Promoted

O'Hara Is Named First Sergeant

Promotion of six officers stationed at Barracks C, LaVale, of the Maryland State Police was announced yesterday by Col. Beverly Ober, State Police superintendent, as part of 37 promotions made throughout the state in the first large-scale increases in rank since 1943.

Officers promoted at the LaVale barracks are W. E. O'Hara, barracks commander, from sergeant to first sergeant; C. A. Disney, from corporal to sergeant; Harry Holsinger, from trooper first class to corporal, and William F. Baker, G. M. Rotruck and Thomas G. Barton from trooper to first class.

The promotions are effective today.

O'Hara, whose home is in Frederick, has been a member of the State Police force since 1938, and was transferred from the detective bureau at Pikesville to Cumberland, succeeding Lt. John H. Doud as commanding officer here when the latter was promoted several months ago. O'Hara has been a sergeant since 1944.

Disney, who has been a State Policeman for 12 years, has been a corporal since 1941. He was assigned here in 1946, but about six months ako was recalled to active duty with the Army Paratroopers as a first lieutenant. He returned to duty with the State Police at LaVale about three months ago. His home is in Owings Mills, Baltimore County.

A State Policeman since 1941, Holsinger has been stationed at LaVale for the past two and a half years. He was transferred to Barracks C from Frederick and has been a trooper first class since 1942. Holsinger's home is in Hagerstown.

Baker, a resident of Cumberland, joined the State Police in 1942 and was transferred to LaVale from the Waterloo Barracks in August, 1946, two months after he was discharged from the Navy.

Barton, whose home is at Pinto, also joined the State Police in 1942, and was transferred to LaVale from Waterloo in May 1946 after being discharged from the Army.

Rotruck, a resident of Cresaptown, joined the State Police in 1942 and was transferred to Barracks C from Randallstown in 1943. He returned to LaVale in January 1946 after being discharged from the Army.

McLane, Mades Promoted

Trooper Charles D. McLane, stationed at LaVale before entering the Army in 1944 and now stationed at Frederick, also was promoted to trooper first class.

Charles D. Mades, now stationed at Hagerstown, was promoted from trooper first class to corporal. He formely was stationed at Hancock.

Lack Of Parental Interest Cited As Delinquency Cause

Most cases of juvenile delinquency can be traced back to an undesirable home environment where parents have little or no interest in their children. Mrs. Eleanor Root, former Juvenile Court clerk, asserted in an address before the Girl Scout Leaders' Organization last night at Scout Headquarters.

"If some outside source, such as Girl Scouting, could make up for this lack of interest, furnish the child with a pleasant atmosphere as well as good companionship, and teach responsibility and right thinking, the problem would be alleviated," Mrs. Root declared in explaining how Girl Scouting could be of help to the so-called delinquent girl.

Following Mrs. Root's talk, an open-forum discussion was held. It was reported that Girl Scout troops have some children who are potential juvenile delinquents, although none of these children are actual court cases. At present, lack of leaders makes it impossible to do much along this line, according to Mrs. Althea M. Correll, executive secretary of the scouts, but it was intimated that when leaders are secured, action will be taken.

Prior to Mrs. Root's talk, a business meeting was held at which Miss Helen Campbell, president, was in charge. It was decided that the June meeting would be in the form of a cook-out, with arrangements being made by Mrs. O. J. Hale, program chairman, and Mrs. Seth Bowen.

A presentation ceremony was held during which leaders' certificates were awarded to Mrs. Myrtle Dicken and Mrs. Edith Mathews. Mrs. A. M. Spioch, Mrs. James Casserly and Mrs. David Durst formed the color guard and Miss Helen Campbell and Mrs. Carroll officiated. The Girl Scout oath was recited by the group, followed by a prayer for leaders. The ceremony was concluded with the singing of the "Ode to Joy."

A social hour was held, with refreshments served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Spioch.

Many Here Want Voting Machines Purchased Now

Major Parties Endorse Project

Little progress was indicated yesterday in a move to obtain 2,500 signatures, on petitions to require a referendum on laws enacted by the General Assembly making voting machines mandatory in all Allegany County elections. At the same time, a number of groups and individuals reiterated statements that the machines are wanted here, and some stated that if the referendum develops, they will actively campaign for the machines.

David Kauffman, president of the Junior Association of Commerce, said last night, "The Jaycees were among the first to endorse the idea of voting machines for Allegany County, and did so after an extensive study and survey by legislative and good government committees. We believed that the laws should be passed requiring the County Commissioners to buy them, and we still think they should be purchased and put into use.

"In the survey, local Jaycees learned that the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Baltimore sponsored legislation to provide machines there. They campaigned for sometime to get the legislation through and now it has been proved that the machines are more efficient, more accurate and more economical than the old balloting method," Kauffman stated.

Made Investigation

"Our committees also investigated the installation of these machines in other communities and counties, and before we raised our voices for them, we were certain they were an asset in every possible way.

"On one occasion, J. Rutledge Clark of Baltimore, president of the Maryland Junior Chamber of Commerce was here and talked to our organization. He had worked on the project in Baltimore and gave us first-hand information as to costs and savings in time and money made possible by the voting machines.

"If sponsors of petitions to delay the purchase of voting machines are successful in getting enough signatures to require a referendum, the Junior Association of Commerce will actively campaign for them at the next election," Kauffman said.

Both Parties Endorse Plan

Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Allegany County said last night that the committee is on record as favoring the purchase of voting machines, and endorsed the Bills when they were before the Legislature. Bruce said he had no comment other than that the committee is still in favor of the machines.

Paul M. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee stated the committee endorsed the idea when it was first proposed, and also endorsed the measures making the use and purchase of machines possible. Fletcher said the committee is still of the opinion the county should have the machines.

According to figures submitted by the firm which manufactures voting machines, Allegany County can be equipped with sufficient machines for about $126,000. The act as passed by the General Assembly, provides up to $140,000 for this purpose, to be raised by a bond issue, certificates of indebtedness, or other means, at an interest rate not to exceed three percent per annum.

The NEWS was informed last night that premium on bonds would almost take care of the interest charges.

Would Save Tax Money

County commissioners can also work out, at their discretion, a rental fee plan so the machines would actually produce revenue for the county. Fees can be charged Cumberland, Lonaconing, Frostburg, Westernport, Midland and Barton, for use of the machines in their municipal primary and general elections.

It is conservatively estimated that $1,000 per election year could be saved in Cumberland alone if the machines are used.

The Board of Election Supervisors favors the purchase of the machines, and board members have expressed the opinion that County Commissioners should proceed with plans to purchase them.

Law Is Explained To Legionnaires

The law regarding police officers entering establishments holding alcoholic beverage licenses was explained to officers of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, Frostburg, yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, according to Charles A. Cole, post commander.

Cole said officers of the post were asked to come to the State Attorney's office yesterday and added that two Frostburg policemen who entered the Legion club Saturday night and used an axe to break open a cabinet appeared at the State Attorney's office Tuesday.

According to Cole, Fletcher explained the law, pointing out that a warrant is not needed to enter an establishment holding an alcoholic beverage license. He added that it was agreed both parties should use "some horse sense."

Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the Legion post, said the executive committee of the post will meet to decide what action to take about the two officers' action at the club.

He said the Legion probably will protest to the Mayor and Council and ask that the officers be reprimanded, but that it has not been decided if legal action will be taken.

A bill of complaint was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Julius D. Cannon, seeking divorce from Alice E. Cannon. The couple married here August 6, 1925, and the bill charges desertion on February 2, 1928, and states there are no children of the marriage.

Oscar Cosner Acquitted Of Wife-Slaying Charge

Jury Finds Mail-Carrier Insane At Time His Wife Was Beaten To Death

Spectators Applaud As Verdict Is Read

Oscar Cosner, 36-year-old Keyser, W. Va., letter carrier, was released from Mineral County jail late yesterday afternoon, after being acquitted by the jury, of a charge of murdering his wife, Hazel E. (Alt) Cosner, 31, mother of three children, on September 3, 1946, at their South Water Street residence, following a heated quarrel.

The jury, which started deliberations at 3:30 p. m. EST, Tuesday, returned its verdict yesterday about 3:45 p. m., EST, with Norwood Borror, Ridgeley, W. Va., foreman handing the acquittal verdict, to Paul W. Dayton, clerk of circuit court.

Before a crowded, but stilled Court room, Dayton read: "we, the jury, find for the defendant, Oscar Cosner, not guilty because he was insane at the time he killed Hazel E. (Alt) Cosner."

Spectators Applaud

The verdict was greeted by a round of applause by spectators, many of whom had listened to the case from its beginning, saw the state make every effort to convict Cosner, watched carefully and critically, every move made by the defense and listened attentively to each ruling of the Court.

As the verdict was read, Prosecutor Vernon E. Rankin asked presiding Judge Ernest A. See to have the jury polled. This was done and each in turn confirmed the verdict. Rankin then moved that the Court hold Cosner, so he could be examined for possible commitment to a mental institution, but Judge See ordered Sheriff James A. Dixon to release the defendant, as he had not been judged insane, except at the time of the tragedy, the court said.

Cosner, who had been nervous throughout much of the hearing, and who broke down and wept bitterly while recounting events leading up to the tragedy when he testified in his own defense, seemed to be the calmest person in the Court room as the jury announced it had reached a verdict. Cosner's attorneys, H. P. Shores and Emory Tyler, appeared a little nervous, and Rankin also seemed to be waiting expectantly. H. G. Shores, chief defense counsel, and Herndon R. Athey, retained by the Alt family to assist Rankin in the prosecution, were not in the Court room, when the jury returned its verdict.

Cosner Thanks Jury

After a verdict was read, and the Court ruled Cosner should be released, the letter - carrier shook hands with each member of the jury and thanked them. He was greeted warmly by many spectators, friends and acquaintances in the court room and numerous Court attaches congratulated him and his attorneys.

Cosner was taken to the home of one of his defense attorneys, Howard P. Shores to spend the night, and plans to return to his home on South Water Street in the next day or two. His three sons, Vance, 9; Vince, 8, and Teddy, 3, are still at the Star of Hope Orphanage, Burlington, W. Va., where they have been since the tragedy, but Cosner expects to return them to Keyser soon and re-establish a home for them.

The postmaster at Keyser, Thomas Ward, who has befriended Cosner all during his trial, was in court during much of the time. He indicated earlier that if Cosner should be acquitted, there would be no doubt about his re-instatement on his job as a postal clerk and letter carrier. Ward said, "I have always found Cosner extremely loyal, diligent and conscientious. He is the kind of fellow who would

Police Take .45 Pistol From Ohioan

A Mansfield, Ohio, World War II veteran who police said came to Cumberland to "get" his estranged wife, an employe in a local laundry, was being held in the City Jail last night for questioning in the office of the State's Attorney. A .45 caliber pistol taken from him was being held by authorities.

Police said they received a call from the ex-wife of the veteran, booked as Ambrose Myers, yesterday morning, and that she told them she understood her husband was in town and was "after" her.

Later in the morning, Myers went to the office of the Maryland State Employment Service where he called on C. William Spangler, field representative of the Veterans' Employment Service, who had assisted him on several previous occasions.

Myers was intoxicated and told him he was going to see his ex-wife, Spangler said, adding that he advised the man to go home and get some rest before he got into trouble.

At that point, Myers pulled out the pistol and told Spangler, he said, that he was "not going to get into any trouble while I have this."

Spangler added that he notified police in order to keep Myers out of trouble and that officers took him into custody at Queen City Hotel.

Police said that when Myers was arrested the pistol was not loaded and that bullets he was carrying would not fit the weapon.

Myers bought the pistol Tuesday in Ohio, according to police, who said the man told them he did not threaten his wife, from whom he has been separated for sometime.

Police said he told them he came to this section to visit his 10-year-old daughter who lives in the vicinity of Elkins, W. Va. He said he had not been in any previous trouble.

IS ACQUITTED—Oscar Cosner, 36, of South Water Street, Keyser, W. Va., is shown here a short time after he was acquitted by a jury of a charge of murder, involving the death of his wife Hazel E. (Alt) Cosner, last September 3. Cosner spent the night at the home of one of his attorneys, Howard P. Shores, and said he plans to get his children from the Burlington orphanage and re-establish his home. Charged with beating his wife to death with a baseball bat, as she lay in bed, Cosner said he "blacked out" during a quarrel after his wife admitted she had been unfaithful. The jury deliberated more than six hours and returned a verdict of "not guilty because he was insane at the time of the slaying." (Photo by Keyser Studio).

Celanese Local Makes Report On Contract Talks

Following a report of the progress of contract negotiations with the Celanese Corporation of America, officers of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, reported last night they hoped a satisfactory agreement could be reached without difficulty but that the negotiating committee had been empowered to call a strike, if necessary, to obtain an appropriate agreement.

The union committee, headed by Herbert W. Payne, New York, director of the TWUA's rayon division, will resume contract talks this morning at 10 o'clock.

In a formal statement prepared last night by the union in the presence of Herbert W. Payne, New York, rayon director of the union, the local said:

"A report was made at the general membership meeting of Local 1874 of the progress of negotiations currently going on at the Celanese plant by the committee and officials of the company.

"After discussion of the report, the local union membership empowered the committee, if it found it 'absolutely' necessary, to extend the agreement on a day to day basis beyond the termination date of May 19.

"By unanimous vote it further empowered the negotiating committee to cancel such extension and call a strike if it found it necessary to do so to obtain an appropriate agreement.

"It qualified the power of the negotiating committee by requiring that any agreement reached with the company must be submitted to the membership for approval or rejection.

"The officials of the national and local union express the hope that a satisfactory agreement will be reached without any difficulties."

Death Of Boy, 9, Held Unavoidable

A coroner's jury at Somerset, Pa., ruled yesterday that the death of George Stanley Swindell, 9, near Somerset, last Saturday, caused when he was shot by a neighbor, ex-serviceman who was firing at sparrows, was an unavoidable accident, Dr. A. M. Uphouse, coroner, said last night.

District Attorney Thomas F. Lansberry said a further investigation is being made by his office.

The inquest was held at the Somerset County Court House yesterday afternoon and Dr. Uphouse said evidence showed the child was shot when he ran in the line of fire of Edward Francis Firle, 19, who was shooting across a public highway at sparrows, and died almost instantly.

Firle "had no business shooting across the highway," Dr. Uphouse said, but he added that the decision of the coroner's jury is final so far as he is concerned.

A funeral service for the child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Swindell, was held Tuesday.

Railroader Hurt As Car Hits Truck

A. B. and O. Railroad employe working at Keyser, W. Va., was injured yesterday morning when the automobile State Police said he was driving crashed against the rear of a truck two miles south of Cresaptown on the McMullen Highway about 9 o'clock.

State Trooper George E. Coddington, who investigated, identified the man as James E. Cook, 39, Corriganville, and said he suffered a possible skull fracture, possible fractures of the ribs, lacerations of the right knee and brush burns on the forehead. The officer said he was informed X-rays probably will be taken today to determine the extent of Cook's injuries. He is a patient in Allegany Hospital.

Cook was heading north on Route 220 when he crashed against the rear of the coal truck owned and operated by James Corbin, Westernport, Coddington said, adding that Cook told him he does not know what happened. Corbin was uninjured.

Cook's car was completely wrecked, according to the officer, and the truck was damaged to the extent of about $150.

Red Cross Plans Two Courses For Swim Instructors

Young men and women 19 years old or over who are interested in taking a preliminary training course to be followed by an intensive swimming instructor's course are asked to contact the Red Cross office in the Post Office Building, according to Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

To be eligible, applicants must hold Red Cross senior lifesaving certificates dated within the past three years.

Plans for expanding the "learn to swim" program for county school children were discussed at a meeting yesterday with Charles L. Kopp, county superintendent of schools; Miss Jane Botsford, junior Red Cross chairman; and James E. Kelly, Jr., water safety chairman of the Red Cross, Mrs. Witherup said.

It was agreed that the swimming program held during the winter, in which 90 sixth grade children from West Side, Johnson Heights, Columbia Street and Centre Street Schools were taught to swim, was a valuable one, and that qualified instructors should be obtained to carry on an expanded program through the summer.

The preliminary 10-hour training course will be held at the Central YMCA pool under Kelley's direction, with the schedule of instruction to be announced later.

Mrs. Witherup said that July 14 has been set as the tentative date for the beginning of the instructor's course, which will be taught by a representative from Eastern Area headquarters of the Red Cross in Alexandria, Va. The intensive 15-hour course will provide one week of training in swimming instruction. Both courses will be given free of charge.

The county "learn to swim" program was inaugurated last November at the request of the State Board of Education. Its ultimate goal is to teach every county school child how to swim, Mrs. Witherup said.

Provided sufficient trained instructors are secured through the proposed courses, it is hoped to organize swimming classes for adults this summer, she added.

The new officers will be in charge of the June meeting which is planned as "ladies' night."

Chief speaker at last night's meeting was Arthur A. Verner, local export manager of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, who described the transportation systems of Europe and South Africa.

He said the recent war put South Africa, and particularly the Union of South Africa, on its own as far as supplies and industry were concerned, pointing out that rigid government control handicapped all forms of transport except railroads.

6 State Troopers At Barracks C Are Promoted

O'Hara Is Named First Sergeant

Promotion of six officers stationed at Barracks C, LaVale, of the Maryland State Police was announced yesterday by Col. Beverly Ober, State Police superintendent, as part of 37 promotions made throughout the state in the first large-scale increases in rank since 1943.

Officers promoted at the LaVale barracks are W. E. O'Hara, barracks commander, from sergeant to first sergeant; C. A. Disney, from corporal to sergeant; Harry Holsinger, from trooper first class to corporal, and William F. Baker, G. M. Rotruck and Thomas G. Barton from trooper to first class.

The promotions are effective today.

O'Hara, whose home is in Frederick, has been a member of the State Police force since 1938, and was transferred from the detective bureau at Pikesville to Cumberland, succeeding Lt. John H. Doud as commanding officer here when the latter was promoted several months ago. O'Hara has been a sergeant since 1944.

Disney, who has been a State Policeman for 12 years, has been a corporal since 1941. He was assigned here in 1946, but about six months ako was recalled to active duty with the Army Paratroopers as a first lieutenant. He returned to duty with the State Police at LaVale about three months ago. His home is in Owings Mills, Baltimore County.

A State Policeman since 1941, Holsinger has been stationed at LaVale for the past two and a half years. He was transferred to Barracks C from Frederick and has been a trooper first class since 1942. Holsinger's home is in Hagerstown.

Baker, a resident of Cumberland, joined the State Police in 1942 and was transferred to LaVale from the Waterloo Barracks in August, 1946, two months after he was discharged from the Navy.

Barton, whose home is at Pinto, also joined the State Police in 1942, and was transferred to LaVale from Waterloo in May 1946 after being discharged from the Army.

Rotruck, a resident of Cresaptown, joined the State Police in 1942 and was transferred to Barracks C from Randallstown in 1943. He returned to LaVale in January 1946 after being discharged from the Army.

McLane, Mades Promoted

Trooper Charles D. McLane, stationed at LaVale before entering the Army in 1944 and now stationed at Frederick, also was promoted to trooper first class.

Charles D. Mades, now stationed at Hagerstown, was promoted from trooper first class to corporal. He formely was stationed at Hancock.

Lack Of Parental Interest Cited As Delinquency Cause

Most cases of juvenile delinquency can be traced back to an undesirable home environment where parents have little or no interest in their children. Mrs. Eleanor Root, former Juvenile Court clerk, asserted in an address before the Girl Scout Leaders' Organization last night at Scout Headquarters.

"If some outside source, such as Girl Scouting, could make up for this lack of interest, furnish the child with a pleasant atmosphere as well as good companionship, and teach responsibility and right thinking, the problem would be alleviated," Mrs. Root declared in explaining how Girl Scouting could be of help to the so-called delinquent girl.

Following Mrs. Root's talk, an open-forum discussion was held. It was reported that Girl Scout troops have some children who are potential juvenile delinquents, although none of these children are actual court cases. At present, lack of leaders makes it impossible to do much along this line, according to Mrs. Althea M. Correll, executive secretary of the scouts, but it was intimated that when leaders are secured, action will be taken.

Prior to Mrs. Root's talk, a business meeting was held at which Miss Helen Campbell, president, was in charge. It was decided that the June meeting would be in the form of a cook-out, with arrangements being made by Mrs. O. J. Hale, program chairman, and Mrs. Seth Bowen.

A presentation ceremony was held during which leaders' certificates were awarded to Mrs. Myrtle Dicken and Mrs. Edith Mathews. Mrs. A. M. Spioch, Mrs. James Casserly and Mrs. David Durst formed the color guard and Miss Helen Campbell and Mrs. Carroll officiated. The Girl Scout oath was recited by the group, followed by a prayer for leaders. The ceremony was concluded with the singing of the "Ode to Joy."

A social hour was held, with refreshments served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Spioch.

Many Here Want Voting Machines Purchased Now

Major Parties Endorse Project

Little progress was indicated yesterday in a move to obtain 2,500 signatures, on petitions to require a referendum on laws enacted by the General Assembly making voting machines mandatory in all Allegany County elections. At the same time, a number of groups and individuals reiterated statements that the machines are wanted here, and some stated that if the referendum develops, they will actively campaign for the machines.

David Kauffman, president of the Junior Association of Commerce, said last night, "The Jaycees were among the first to endorse the idea of voting machines for Allegany County, and did so after an extensive study and survey by legislative and good government committees. We believed that the laws should be passed requiring the County Commissioners to buy them, and we still think they should be purchased and put into use.

"In the survey, local Jaycees learned that the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Baltimore sponsored legislation to provide machines there. They campaigned for sometime to get the legislation through and now it has been proved that the machines are more efficient, more accurate and more economical than the old balloting method," Kauffman stated.

Made Investigation

"Our committees also investigated the installation of these machines in other communities and counties, and before we raised our voices for them, we were certain they were an asset in every possible way.

"On one occasion, J. Rutledge Clark of Baltimore, president of the Maryland Junior Chamber of Commerce was here and talked to our organization. He had worked on the project in Baltimore and gave us first-hand information as to costs and savings in time and money made possible by the voting machines.

"If sponsors of petitions to delay the purchase of voting machines are successful in getting enough signatures to require a referendum, the Junior Association of Commerce will actively campaign for them at the next election," Kauffman said.

Both Parties Endorse Plan

Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Allegany County said last night that the committee is on record as favoring the purchase of voting machines, and endorsed the Bills when they were before the Legislature. Bruce said he had no comment other than that the committee is still in favor of the machines.

Paul M. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee stated the committee endorsed the idea when it was first proposed, and also endorsed the measures making the use and purchase of machines possible. Fletcher said the committee is still of the opinion the county should have the machines.

According to figures submitted by the firm which manufactures voting machines, Allegany County can be equipped with sufficient machines for about $126,000. The act as passed by the General Assembly, provides up to $140,000 for this purpose, to be raised by a bond issue, certificates of indebtedness, or other means, at an interest rate not to exceed three percent per annum.

The NEWS was informed last night that premium on bonds would almost take care of the interest charges.

Would Save Tax Money

County commissioners can also work out, at their discretion, a rental fee plan so the machines would actually produce revenue for the county. Fees can be charged Cumberland, Lonaconing, Frostburg, Westernport, Midland and Barton, for use of the machines in their municipal primary and general elections.

It is conservatively estimated that $1,000 per election year could be saved in Cumberland alone if the machines are used.

The Board of Election Supervisors favors the purchase of the machines, and board members have expressed the opinion that County Commissioners should proceed with plans to purchase them.

Law Is Explained To Legionnaires

The law regarding police officers entering establishments holding alcoholic beverage licenses was explained to officers of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, Frostburg, yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, according to Charles A. Cole, post commander.

Cole said officers of the post were asked to come to the State Attorney's office yesterday and added that two Frostburg policemen who entered the Legion club Saturday night and used an axe to break open a cabinet appeared at the State Attorney's office Tuesday.

According to Cole, Fletcher explained the law, pointing out that a warrant is not needed to enter an establishment holding an alcoholic beverage license. He added that it was agreed both parties should use "some horse sense."

Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the Legion post, said the executive committee of the post will meet to decide what action to take about the two officers' action at the club.

He said the Legion probably will protest to the Mayor and Council and ask that the officers be reprimanded, but that it has not been decided if legal action will be taken.

Divorce Filed

A bill of complaint was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Julius D. Cannon, seeking divorce from Alice E. Cannon. The couple married here August 6, 1925, and the bill charges desertion on February 2, 1938, and states there are no children of the marriage.
